Reds Insist German Issues Can Only Be Solved At Summit

Communist Information Chief Optimistic

BERLIN, Eastern Sector (AP)—The chief information officer of the East German Communist government said Sunday the issues of Berlin and Germany "can only be solved at the summit."

Stefan Heymann, the information chief, talked to a group of Western newsmen flown here from Geneva in the midst of the Big Four foreign ministers' conference.

"There can be no concrete agreement of any kind in Geneva," Heymann said. "Perhaps there may be some understanding of the broad outlines of an agenda for discussion of the problems of Berlin and Germany at the summit conference."

Heymann told the group, however, that he believed the East Germans had already achieved their objective at the Geneva conference.

"New elements have entered into international politics since the Geneva conference began," he said. "They now openly speak of things which were previously taboo."

"Before Geneva, did any one on the Western side talk in terms of two German states? And does the West not now agree with us that the Berlin situation is abnormal?"

Heymann said he was optimistic over the prospect of East-West negotiations begun at Geneva.

He quoted Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev as saying the world's main problem was not the question of East Germany but the question of relaxation of tension between the United States and the Soviet Union.

Heymann reiterated that the East German government would not accept any proposal which involved moving the East German capital out of East Berlin.

Farmer Goes Berserk, Kills Two And Self

Three Neighbors Lured Into Woods But One Escapes

MACON, Mo. (AP)—Police said a 70-year-old farmer lured three neighbors into a wooded area Sunday and shot and killed two of them.

The man, Mike Kordash, then shot himself fatally, police said. Sheriff Claude Bloomberg said a third victim escaped by running away.

The bodies of Claude Inman, 68, and Charles Hermis, 55, were found in a wooded area about eight miles southeast of Macon in north-central Missouri.

"Lost Cow" Story

Bloomberg and highway patrol officers gave this account of the shootings: Kordash, who reportedly had been brooding over the death of his wife two weeks ago, went to the home of Inman and asked for help in finding a cow which he said was lost in a nearby wooded area. Inman and his brother-in-law, Forrest Van Sickle, rode with Kordash in his truck to the wooded area and helped search for the cow for about 30 minutes.

Inman persuaded Kordash to give up the search and he and Van Sickle got into the truck. Van Sickle said Kordash had seemed cheerful up to this point, but he suddenly pulled out a .32 caliber revolver, pointed it at Van Sickle's abdomen and pulled the trigger.

The hammer snapped — apparently striking an empty chamber — and Van Sickle grabbed for the weapon. Kordash ran a few feet away and started fumbling with the weapon, and Van Sickle and Inman started running in opposite directions.

Five Shots Heard
"He shot at me first—I heard the bullet whiz past my ear," Van Sickle said. "Then there was another shot and I heard Inman scream. There were three more shots."

Inman was wearing heavy boots and ran only a short distance before he was shot.

Kordash then went to Hermis' home and also told him that he needed help in locating a cow and Hermis accompanied him to a point in the woods not far from where Inman was shot.

Police found Kordash in the woods with a gunshot wound in the forehead and later found Hermis' body. Kordash died about an hour later in a Macon hospital.

U.A.R. And Israeli Jet Fighters Tangle

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—Four jets from the United Arab Republic clashed with Israeli fighters Sunday over the Negev Desert, an army spokesman announced.

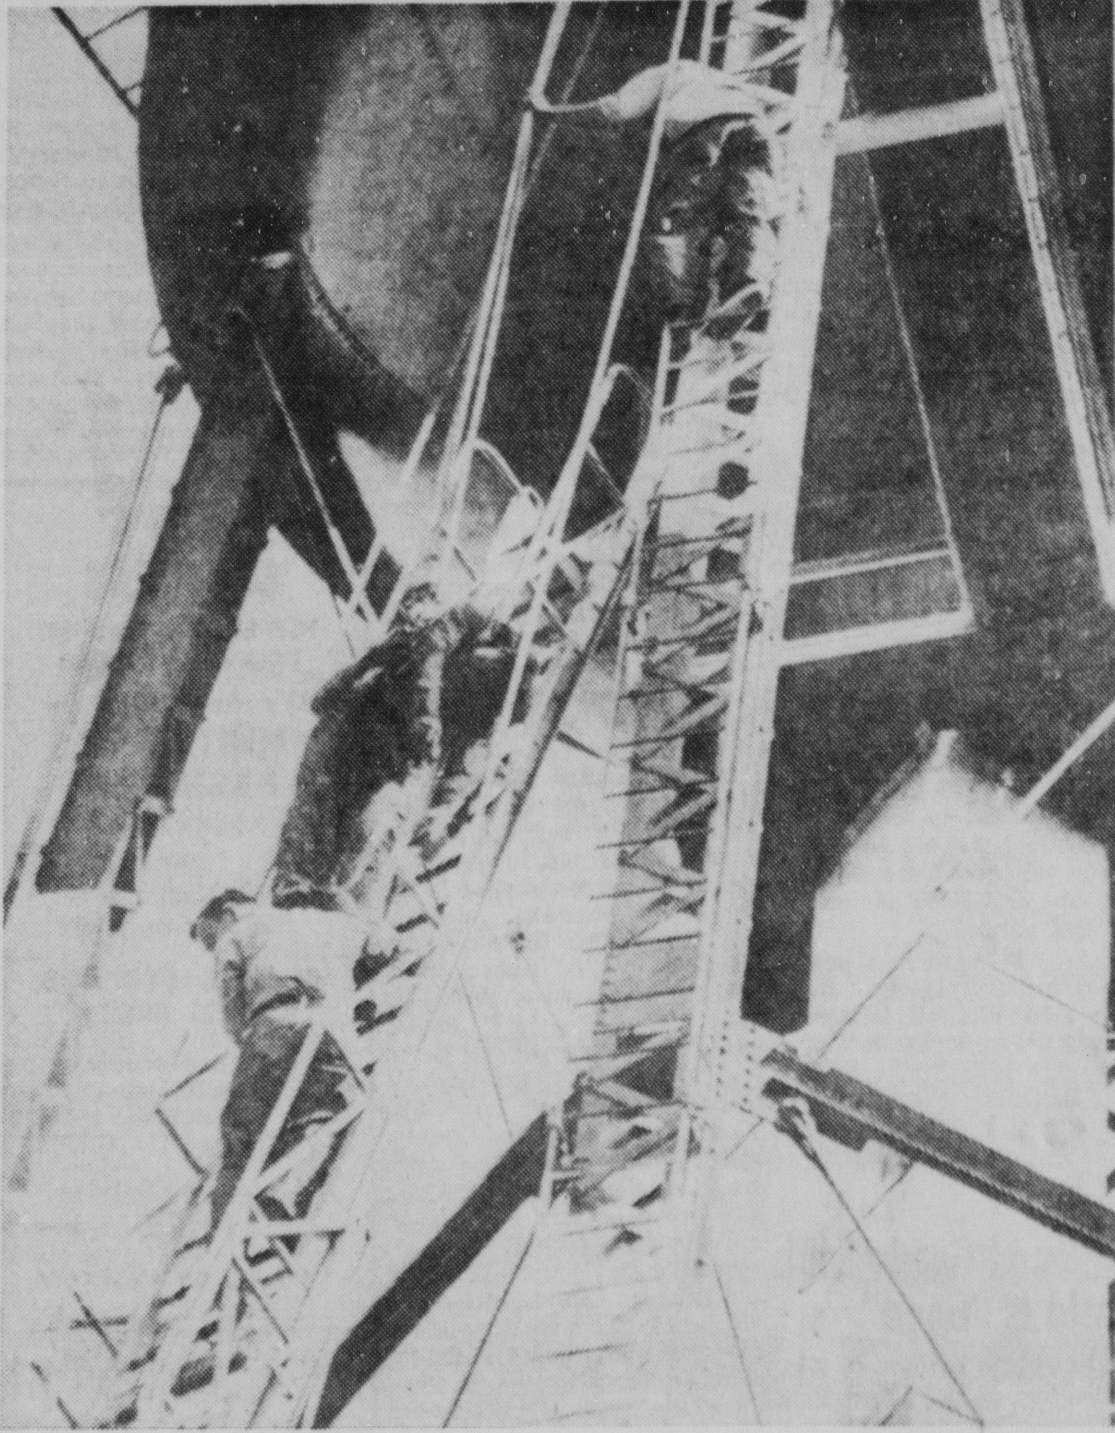

The four MIGs fought with the Israeli fighters for five minutes at an altitude of 4,000 feet before they were driven off, the spokesman said.

Two of the U.A.R. jets retired westward over the sea and the other two south toward the Sinai Peninsula. No hits were reported.

Demo Council To Meet

WASHINGTON (AP)—The 27-member Democratic Advisory Council will meet here next Saturday and Sunday to work on several major policy statements.

Two of the council's most prominent members, former President Harry S. Truman and Adlai E. Stevenson, the party's presidential candidate in 1952 and 1956, are expected to attend.

Pair's Tahiti Trip On Dinky Raft Washed Up

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—A sailing trip to Tahiti on a rinky-dink 10-foot raft was all washed up Sunday for a clothes presser and a television repairman.

"But we'll try again," said Alfred Clementi, who started the voyage last Wednesday with Norman Viron. They were towed back to port Saturday after drifting onto one of the Coronado Islands, about 20 miles offshore.

Clementi, the bearded, self-styled captain, put the blame on his first mate, a TV repairman making his first ocean voyage.

"I think we could have cleared the island if I had been on the bridge," said Clementi, ruefully. "I never should have given the helm to Norm."

Why did he? "I had to," said Clementi. "I was seasick."

"I spent most of the voyage in my bunk," said Clementi, pointing to a deck plank on the 5x10-foot nautical mistake that he and Viron assembled out of two war surplus rubber rafts.

Clementi, 30, and Viron, 31, had planned to drift south to Central America and then pick up the same current that carried the raft Kon Tiki on its celebrated drift from Peru to Tahiti.

The raft had a makeshift sail and a few provisions. The adventurers planned to replenish supplies along the way as they drifted down the coast.

They washed up several times on one of the Coronado Islands. Each time they pushed off, they drifted right back.

A power boat cruising in the area spotted them and towed the raft to San Diego.

A-Test Ban Parley Reconvenes Today

GENEVA (UPI)—The eight-month-old three power nuclear conference reconvenes here Monday after a four-week recess with the West demanding Soviet assurances that there would be no veto over a test-ban inspection.

U. S. British and Soviet nuclear diplomats scheduled a meeting at the Palace of Nations, where their talks have been deadlocked over a number of political and technical problems.

The Soviets have been stalling on a Western request for clear cut assurances that procedures for inspections of suspected test ban violations be free from a paralyzing veto.

Moreover, the Russians have thus far refused to approve a fresh study of new information on nuclear explosion detection, notably on underground tests, which was not available when the conference opened here last Oct. 31.

The meeting resumes Monday against the background of several off-stage talks of the foreign ministers of the U. S., Britain and Russia in recent weeks.

U. S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko tried but failed thus far to break the deadlock.

But their continued presence here for the East-West four power conference was expected to give a discreet assist to their nuclear officials if the latter fail to make headway.

The West submitted to the Soviets a number of detailed questions for clarification of Russian test ban aims.

The U. S. and British leaders were expected to press Soviet delegation chief Semyon K. Tsarapkin for full and clearcut answers.

The U. S. delegation is headed by Ambassador James Wadsworth, the British by minister of state for foreign affairs David Ormsby Gore, who said Sunday he feels sure there will be progress.

Graham Considers Mission To Moscow

LONDON (AP)—Billy Graham is considering an evangelical mission to Moscow, a British friend said Sunday.

"He has been invited to visit the Soviet Union by the leaders of the Baptist church there," said the Rev. Arthur Godwin-Hudson, an Anglican minister who lunched with the American evangelist.

"At the moment, Dr. Graham is a little uncertain in his mind about whether he will go, but I expect him to decide within the next 24 hours."

Graham was somewhere in the country visiting friends after presumably dead in 1943, but exactly what happened is not known. The investigating team left book. The guns were still loaded. Wheelus Air Force Base here this

Sicilians Go To Polls For Crucial Vote

PALERMO, Sicily (AP)—Ballot boxes closed Sunday night on a Sicilian regional election that has alarmed Italy's ruling Christian Democrats, cheered the Communists, and deeply concerned the Roman Catholic Church.

Final results, which should be known by Monday night, may cast a long political shadow across Italy. This mid-Mediterranean island has one-tenth of all the voters in Italy. Voting was for a new Parliament.

The Christian Democrats, who have won every vote here since the Allied landings in World War II, were fighting to regain the control they lost in a rebel split within their own ranks last winter.

The Communist-Socialist left was battling for a chance to gain a hold here for a drive on Italy's central government.

The Catholic Church was concerned over Catholics who vote for candidates who profess Christian faith but walk their political way with communism.

The Christian Democrats had an uphill battle in an effort to unseat wealthy Silvio Milazzo, who bolted the party last winter and became the island's president with Communists and Fascists in his government.

Milazzo staged the political coup because he said the government in Rome was not doing enough for Sicily.

Communist-led leftists hoped to win one of his best victories in years and make secure their beachhead in the government.

A decree signed last April 2 by Pope John XXIII warned Catholics they are not permitted to vote for candidates who aid Communists even though the candidates profess Christianity.

Benson Lashes Out At Politics In Agriculture

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson said Sunday that Congress is playing politics with agriculture.

"The members who control the House and Senate agricultural committees apparently have decided there's no political hay to be made in finding a real solution to the farm problem," he said in a filmed television interview with Rep. Hastings Keith (R-Mass.).

Benson's remark seemed likely to be taken up by House Democrats when the controversial wheat surplus control bill reaches the floor this week.

Benson singled out wheat in rapping what he said was "too much government and too much politics in agriculture."

Commenting that wartime production incentives to wheat growers have resulted in wheat crops "far beyond our needs," Benson said: "And I think we should keep in mind, too, that most of the cost under the wheat (price) support program has resulted from the production of a few, relatively few, big farmers."

"Actually, they represent less than 10 per cent of the total farmers who grow wheat."

Referring to the Senate and House Agriculture committees, Benson said: "They prefer to try and foster the illusion that the farm problem should be attributed to the present administration, rather than to Congress which started the whole business—and of course it's only Congress that can correct the situation, because it requires a change in old basic legislation."

Keating and Javits spoke on separate TV programs filmed for New York stations, while Benson appeared as a guest on a program of Sen. Ralph Yarborough (D-Tex.) recorded for TV stations in Texas.

U.S. Team Seeks Answer To 1943 Bomber Mystery

TRIPOLI, Libya (AP)—A party weekend and is traveling by truck to the site, about 800 miles south of here. The plane had made a belly landing north of Cufra oasis, and about 380 miles south of Benghazi.

A member of the mortuary service who visited the site earlier said he believed the crew bailed out just before the crash and that their remains may be scattered in the vicinity. The ground party will make a wide search for them.

Apparently the area had not been visited by nomadic desert tribes.

Inside the fuselage the flying suits of the crew still hung on hooks. Water and coffee flasks were full, just as they were at the takeoff in 1943. In the cockpit were papers and the plane's log book. The guns were still loaded with their belts of ammunition.

No Collapse Of Ministers Talks Likely

Geneva Deadlock Fails To Dim Belief Top Meeting Near

GENEVA (AP)—The Big Four Sunday faced the fifth week of negotiation deadlocked over the future of Berlin but still convinced summit talks will be held.

By general admission the foreign ministers' secret exchanges have reached a point of crisis.

Andrei Gromyko, the Soviet foreign minister, seems to have yielded scarcely an inch to make a stopgap, face-saving Berlin solution possible. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter of the United States, Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd of Britain and Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville of France have stood firm on their starting positions.

Nevertheless, no breakdown of the conference is foreseen. The crisis seems to be one essentially of tactics.

Lloyd seemed to sum up the mood of the conference Friday when he told confidants: "It would be wrong to claim progress on Berlin. But I have a feeling in my bones that we will get an agreement of sorts in the end—maybe a small one but enough to take us to the summit."

Soviets Late Yielders

Herter and Couve de Murville believe Gromyko will conform to the classical Soviet negotiating technique—giving ground only in the last 48 hours of the conference.

On the other side of the Iron Curtain, Premier Nikita Khrushchev Saturday echoed the confidence expressed by Lloyd that a top-level parley will be held.

Khrushchev told Hungarian reporters in Budapest before returning to Moscow that East-West accords "undoubtedly will be reached at the summit" even if no agreement is achieved by the foreign ministers.

Meantime, as if to underline his belief a summit meeting is near, Khrushchev has moved to arrange for a possible postponement of his scheduled Scandinavian tour in August.

Western officials reported the Soviet leader had advised the governments of Finland, Denmark, Sweden and Norway that his presence at a proposed top level parley may compel a postponement.

Mid-September Parley?

Khrushchev was slated to begin his Scandinavian tour Aug. 9. That would have ruled out most of August and the first week or so of September for a summit meeting.

The Western powers lately have been thinking in terms of a mid-September summit parley. It was understood here that Khrushchev raised the possibility of a postponement, not cancellation, of his tour.

At Monday's secret session in Gromyko's headquarters, the Big Four will go on with their slow-moving talks about the Berlin tangle.

Savings Bond Interest Hike Plan Studied

WASHINGTON (AP)—Uncle Sam may be willing to pay you 3 3/4 per cent interest soon for the money you put in savings bonds.

A one-half per cent increase in the interest on these bonds is reported under consideration by the Treasury as a part of new financing proposals President Eisenhower may send to Congress this week.

If such a boost is made, those who now hold savings bonds would share in it along with those who buy new bonds. The rate on the bonds now outstanding would go up at a specified date when the new issues are offered.

Barring last minute changes, Eisenhower is expected to ask that the present 4 1/4 per cent interest rate ceiling on long term government bonds — a separate issue from the savings bonds — be abolished.

Treasury officials were quoted by congressional sources as believing that if the government is to compete successfully with private borrowers in the money market, it is going to have to offer higher interest on long-term bonds.

This would have the effect of increasing the cost of financing the debt, an item that Budget Director Maurice H. Stans estimated recently will run about $8,600,000,000 in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Riflemen Fire On Somoza's Palace

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP)—A bungling attempt on the life of President Luis Somoza was made Saturday night by four or five men firing rifles at his palace, informed sources reported Sunday.

The informants said National Guardsmen captured the riflemen a few miles away. The shots did not endanger Somoza, the informants said.

For a week the government has been trying to round up two small bands of rebels, numbering about 80 in all, who invaded Nicaragua from Costa Rica by plane.

Two more of the invaders were captured Sunday, bringing the total to seven. Three of the rebels have been reported killed.

The captured men were brought to Managua. Officials said the two reported the invaders were suffering from low morale and were disillusioned by the lack of support from Nicaraguan residents.

Entertainer In 'Cody' Act Shot To Death By Boy

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A woman entertainer, whose husband shot targets from her hands and mouth, was accidentally shot to death Sunday by a 9-year-old boy who went to see the show, police reported.

The victim's husband, known professionally as "Wild Bill Cody," rushed at the youth and slapped him screaming: "You've shot my wife." The audience, including the boy's parents, at first thought it part of the act.

At Allegheny General Hospital, the dead woman was identified as Mamie Alice Peniman, 38, of Sun Valley, Calif.

The boy was identified by police as Frank Monaco, son of John and Billie Monaco of nearby New Kensington, Pa. The boy is a fourth-grade pupil at Mount St. Peter's parochial school in New Kensington.

The shooting occurred at Point Park where the Pittsburgh Bicentennial Exhibition is being held. The Cody act was being presented against Western frontier background that included a jail house.

The boy, police said, entered the jail building with his mother. He asked permission to examine one of two rifles standing in a corner. The mother, thinking they were stage props, gave permission.

Police said the boy picked up the rifle and pulled the trigger. The shot whizzed past the mother's head and struck the entertainer.

A police examination disclosed that both rifles—22 caliber—were loaded.

Three Neighbor Children Shot By Deaf Boy, 4

SALEM, Ind. (AP)—Police were amazed Sunday at the ingenuity—and marksmanship—of a 4-year-old deaf boy who opened two locks to reach a pistol, loaded it, and playfully shot down three neighbor children.

Two of the children were in critical condition and the other was listed as fair in Washington County Memorial Hospital here.

Troy Hoggatt, the little boy with the pistol, "doesn't understand what he did," said his father, Malcolm Hoggatt. "I thought I had put away the revolver where the children couldn't reach it. I didn't hide it well enough."

He said that Troy took a key ring out of his father's pocket Saturday night while the elder Hoggatt was taking a bath.

The boy unlocked the trunk of the family auto, then unlocked a box in which the .22-caliber pistol was kept. He opened the breach of the weapon and inserted six cartridges in the nine-chamber cylinder.

The youngster fired one or two shots in the air and a group of neighborhood children gathered. Then he began pointing the pistol at them.

"He was holding it in both hands, and I thought it was a cap pistol," 12-year-old Curtis Hammond told State Trooper William Klein.

Troy's aim was accurate. One bullet passed through the abdomen of Randy Hinton, 5, puncturing his liver. Another knocked Dawn Short, 10, from her bicycle, piercing her spleen, stomach and liver. A third slug passed through both cheeks and the tongue of Ricky Hinton, brother of Randy, knocking out five teeth.

Randy and the Short girl were listed as critical. State police rushed five pints of blood from Louisville to supplement the Salem Hospital's blood bank. The Hinton brothers ran half a block to their home after they were shot.

The girl walked to her home, next door to the Hoggatt residence, before she collapsed. No adult saw the shooting, Klein said.

Father Of New Jersey Quads Admits He Has Wife, Two Children In New York

EAST ORANGE, N. J. (AP)—Ciro Bravata became the father of quadruplets Saturday. Sunday he admitted he has a wife and two children in New York.

As the quadruplets slept peacefully in their incubators at East Orange General Hospital, the 39-year-old father added up his family and came out with eight.

Bravata admitted having the original family of three in addition to Louise Stroheim Bravata, 31, the quads' mother.

The handsome, mustachioed, railroad freight conductor has been living more than two years in a five-room apartment here with Louise. Bravata calls her his wife.

Not so says Bravata's lawyer, Herman Caponi of New York.

"They've never been married," said the attorney.

At a two-family brick home in Hollis, N.Y., Grace Bravata, 38, lay in her bed under sedation, her eyes red and darkly circled. She married her 18 years ago.

"Oh, he's a fine one," she moaned Sunday.

Ciro and Grace had two children, a girl now 13 and a boy now 12. Bravata said he walked out in the fall of 1956.

As far as he is concerned, they are separated, Bravata said Sunday. But according to the lawyer, the legal action Grace Bravata started never was put on, a court calendar and never has been "brought to termination."

"The only thing legal about it," said Caponi. "is that it's mutual." Caponi's advice to Bravata, the lawyer said, was "to legally try to terminate the first marriage so he's free to marry the second woman legally."

Despite his entanglements, Bravata admitted being pleased about the quads. He'll be 40 on Father's Day.

"Sure, who wouldn't be," he said at his apartment as he slipped on a clean shirt to go visiting at the hospital.

When Grace Bravata, who married him in 1941, heard about the quads Saturday, she cried out "the punk!" and then collapsed.

Sunday, surrounded in her room by female relatives and friends, she moaned: "I'm in a fog. I just don't know what to do."

Grace said she was under a separation agreement, was to pay her $40 a week for support of the children. She said she owes her $900.

Benson's remark seemed likely to be taken up by House Democrats when the controversial wheat surplus control bill reaches the floor this week.

Benson singled out wheat in rapping what he said was "to much government and too much politics in agriculture."

Commenting that wartime production incentives to wheat growers have resulted in wheat crops "far beyond our needs," Benson said: "And our needs we should keep in mind, too, that most of the cost under the wheat (price) support program has resulted from the production of a few, relatively few, big farmers."

"Actually, they represent less than 10 per cent of the total farmers who grow wheat."

Referring to the Senate and House Agriculture committees, Benson said: "They prefer to try and foster the illusion that the farm problem should be attributed to the present administration, rather than to Congress which started the whole business—and of course it's only Congress that can correct the situation, because it can make a change in old basic legislation."

No Collapse Of Ministers Talks Likely

GENEVA (AP)—The Big Four Sunday faced the fifth week of negotiation deadlocked over the future of Berlin but still convinced summit talks will be held.

By general admission the foreign ministers' secret exchanges have reached a point of crisis.

Andrei Gromyko, the Soviet foreign minister, seems to have yielded scarcely an inch to make a stopgap, face-saving Berlin solution possible. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter of the United States, Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd of Britain and Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville of France have stood firm on their starting positions.

Nevertheless, no breakdown of the conference is foreseen. The crisis seems to be one essentially of tactics.

Lloyd seemed to sum up the mood of the conference Friday when he told confidants: "It would be wrong to claim progress on Berlin. But I have a feeling in my bones that we will get an agreement of sorts in the end—maybe a small one but enough to take us to the summit."

Soviets Late Viewers

Herter and Couve de Murville believe Gromyko will conform to the classical Soviet negotiating technique—giving ground only in the last 48 hours of the conference.

On the other side of the Iron Curtain, Premier Nikita Khrushchev Saturday echoed the confidence expressed by Lloyd that a top-level parley will be held.

Khrushchev told Hungarian reporters in Budapest before returning to Moscow that East-West records "undoubtedly will be reached at the summit" even if no agreement is achieved by the foreign ministers.

Meantime, as if to underline his belief a summit meeting is near, Khrushchev has moved to arrange for a possible postponement of his scheduled Scandinavian tour in August.

Western officials reported the Soviet leader had advised the governments of Norway, Denmark, Sweden and Finland that his presence at a proposed top level parley may compel a postponement.

Mid-September Parley?

Khrushchev was slated to begin his Scandinavian tour Aug. 9. That would have ruled out most of August and the first week or so of September for a summit meeting.

The Western powers lately have been thinking in terms of a mid-September summit parley. It was understood here that Khrushchev raised the possibility of a postponement, not cancellation, of his tour.

At Monday's secret session in Gromyko's headquarters, the Big Four will go on with their slow-moving talks about the Berlin tangle.

Savings Bond Interest Hike Plan Studied

WASHINGTON (AP)—Uncle Sam may be willing to pay you 3 1/2 per cent interest soon for the money you put in savings bonds.

A one-half per cent increase in the interest on these bonds is reported under consideration by the Treasury as a part of new financing proposals President Eisenhower may send to Congress this week.

If such a boost is made, those who now hold savings bonds would share in it along with those who buy new bonds. The rate on the bonds now outstanding would go up at a specified date when the new issues are offered.

Barring last minute changes, Eisenhower is expected to ask that the present 4 1/2 per cent interest rate ceiling on long term government bonds — a separate issue from the savings bonds — be abolished.

Treasury officials were quoted by congressional sources as believing that if the government is to compete successfully with private borrowings in the money market, it is going to have to offer higher interest on long-term bonds.

This would have the effect of increasing the cost of financing the debt, an item that Budget Director Maurice H. Stans estimated recently will run about $8,600,000 in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Father Of New Jersey Quads Admits He Has Wife, Two Children In New York

EAST ORANGE, N. J. (AP)—Ciro Bravata became the father of quadruplets Saturday. Sunday he admitted he has a wife and two children in New York.

As the quadruplets slept peacefully in their incubators at East Orange General Hospital, the 39-year-old father added up his family and came out with eight.

Bravata admitted having the original family of three in addition to Louise Strohm Bravata, 31, the quads' mother.

The handsome, mustachioed, railroad freight conductor has been living more than two years in a five-room apartment here with Louise Bravata calls her his wife.

Not so says Bravata's lawyer, Herman Caponi of New York.

"They've never been married," said the attorney.

At a two-family brick home in Hollis, N.Y., Grace Bravata, 38, lay in her bed under sedation, her eyes red and darkly circled. She married her 18 years ago.

"Oh, he's a fine one," she moaned Sunday.

Ciro and Grace had two children, a girl now 13 and a boy now 12. Bravata said he walked out in the fall of 1956.

As far as he is concerned, they are separated. Bravata said Sunday, but according to the lawyer, the legal action Grace Bravata started never was put on a court calendar and never has been brought to termination.

"The only thing legal about it," said Caponi, "is that it's mutual."

Caponi's advice to Bravata, the lawyer said, was "to legally try to terminate the first marriage so he's free to marry the second woman legally."

Despite his entanglements, Bravata admitted being pleased about the quads. He'll be 40 on Father's Day.

"Sure, who wouldn't be," he said at his apartment as he slipped on a clean shirt to go visiting at the hospital.

When Grace Bravata, who married him in 1941, heard about the quads Saturday, she cried out "the punk!" and then collapsed.

Sunday, surrounded in her room by female relatives and friends, she moaned: "I'm in a fog. I just don't know what to do."

Grace said, under a separation agreement, was to pay her $40 a week for support of the children. She said she owes her $900.

Graham Considers Mission To Moscow

LONDON (AP)—Billy Graham is considering an evangelical mission to Moscow, a British friend said Sunday.

"He has been invited to visit the Soviet Union by the leaders of the Baptist church there," said the Rev. Arthur Godwin-Hudson, an Anglican minister who, lunched with the American evangelist.

"At the moment, Dr. Graham is a little uncertain in his mind about whether he will go, but I expect him to decide within the next 24 hours."

Graham was somewhere in the country visiting friends after addressing a church congregation in Woodford, on the eastern outskirts of London.

U.S. Team Seeks Answer To 1943 Bomber Mystery

TRIPOLI, Libya (AP)—A party from the U. S. Army's mortuary service plowed through the sands of the Libyan Desert Sunday in an attempt to solve the mystery of the remains of a World War II bomber.

The bomber, a Liberator B24, left its base at Soluck, Libya, on April 4, 1943, for a raid on Naples. Broken in two but otherwise scarcely damaged, the plane was found on the hard-packed sand several weeks ago by a British geological team searching for oil.

The plane and its equipment had been untouched for 16 years.

The members of the nine-man crew were reported missing and presumably dead in 1943, but exactly what happened is not known.

The investigating team left Wheelus Air Force Base here this weekend and is traveling by truck to the site, about 800 miles south of here. The plane had made a belly landing north of Cufra oasis, and about 300 miles south of Benghazi.

A member of the mortuary service who believed the crew bailed out just before the crash and that their remains may be scattered in the vicinity. The ground party will make a wide search for them.

Apparently the area had not been visited by nomadic desert tribes.

Inside the fuselage the flying suits of the crew still hung on hooks. Water and coffee flasks were full, just as they were at the takeoff in 1943. In the cockpit were papers and the plane's log book. The guns were still loaded with their belts of ammunition.

Four Marylanders Die In Swim, Boat Accidents

By The Associated Press
At least four persons were drowned in swimming and boat accidents in Maryland during the weekend.

And the body of a fisherman missing since Wednesday was recovered Sunday from the Potomac River at Falling Waters, W. Va.

Two of the victims were a teenage boy and a young man who apparently stepped into a dropoff while swimming in the Choptank River off Jamaica Point, northeast of Cambridge.

State Police identified them as Donald Cook, 21, and Dale Howard, 15-year-old student at North Dorchester High School. Both were of Fellsburg.

In Southern Maryland, Joseph E. Tension, 22, of Great Mills, drowned when a boat he was in capsized as it was leaving the pier off Foxwell Point, St. Marys County.

Three others were with Tension when the fiberglass outboard motorboat failed to "plane" as the boat drew away from the pier. The two adults and a six-year-old niece of Tension were rescued.

Marion F. Reeves, 61-year-old Westernport fisherman, drowned in Deep Creek Lake in Garrett County Saturday evening. His boat was found with a partially filled fuel tank floating nearby and the tank on his motorboat virtually empty.

Authorities theorized he fell from the boat while trying to refuel. Another fisherman, Eugene Hinebaugh of Lonaconing, pulled up Reeves' body when it became entwined in his anchor line.

State Police recovered Sunday the body of 68-year-old Harry F. Bowman Sr. of Williamsport, at Falling Waters, W. Va. Bowman disappeared while fishing in the Potomac River Wednesday.

He was the father of two State Police troopers and the father-in-law of another, all stationed at Hagerstown. They had joined in the search for his body.

Army Plane Takes Off Straight Up

TORRANCE, Calif. (AP)—The army has an airplane which takes off straight up and then goes into horizontal flight, it was disclosed Sunday.

The cross between a helicopter and a conventional aircraft was produced by Doak Aircraft Co. of Torrance.

It has been flown successfully at Edwards Air Force Base, a Southern California test center. "Ducted fans mounted on the wingtips propel the craft—designated the Doak 16—and rotate through 90 degrees to make vertical and horizontal flight possible."

Pointed straight up, the fans lift the plane with no need for a runway. After gaining altitude, the pilot rotates the fans forward and the plane goes forward. To land, the fans are rotated back and the craft descends vertically.

The Army, interested in use of the plane for observation and liaison, is financing the current development.

Weekend Auto Mishaps Kill Five In State

By The Associated Press

A motorcycle collided head-on with an automobile Saturday night, killing one man and boosting Maryland's highway traffic death toll to 209 for 1959.

Four other persons were killed in state traffic accidents Saturday.

There were 216 deaths recorded for the same period in 1958.

The victim who died in the cycle-auto crash was Walter E. Curtis Jr. of Key West, Fla. His companion on the motorcycle, Alfred Saari, 39, also of Key West, was in South Baltimore General Hospital.

The accident occurred on U. S. 301 about a mile south of Glen Burnie. The driver of the auto, James R. Losek, 20, of Glen Burnie, was charged with reckless driving, manslaughter by automobile, and failure to keep to the right.

A woman driver, who ignored the pleas of her passengers to slow down, lost control of a car on Seven Locks Road at Cabin John, Md. and hit a tree Saturday. She was killed. Two riders, including a 12-year-old boy, were injured, and two other passengers were not hurt.

The dead woman was identified as Helen Williams, 40, of Cabin John. Police Pvt. Miles R. Daniels said she had taken driving lessons but had no license. Daniels was told that her passengers pleaded with her to slow down but "she just told them to shut up and keep going."

The car belonged to a passenger, Annie Bell Darden, 51, of Cabin John, who was injured.

Killed in other weekend accidents were Miss Emily Claudius, 81, of Baltimore; Francis R. Goldsmith, 22, of Thompsonville, and Charles E. Cross, 36, Negro, of Detroit.

104 Hood Grads Told World Is "Good"

FREDERICK (AP)—A commencement speaker told Hood College graduates Sunday that they are stepping out into work in a good world.

"I am not one to apologize for what some term the 'terrible mess' in which my generation has left the world," said Dr. Dexter M. Keezer, vice president of McGraw-Hill Publishing Co.

He advised the 104 graduates of the girls' college that they are going into the business world at a time when there is increasing emphasis on competence.

But, he added, they should not go away with the idea that the best days of the institution were when they were attending the college. He urged that they be active alumni and give liberally in supporting Hood.

Commencement Problem Solved

AMHERST, Mass. (AP)—You are a widowed mother. Your twin sons are graduating on the same day — and nearly at the same hour — from colleges 70 miles apart.

You'd like to attend both commencements. What do you do?

If you are Sarah Plante of Fall River, Mass., you communicate your dilemma to President Jean Paul Mather of the University of Massachusetts.

Mather solved the problem by holding a one-man commencement for Dale Plante a landscape architecture major, at 10:30 a. m., 5 1/2 hours ahead of the scheduled commencement. That made it possible for Dale and Mrs. Plante to see twin Dana receive his degree at Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn., at 6 p. m.

Their decisions almost certainly will determine whether a breakthrough can be expected here in the coming week. An East German spokesman in Berlin said the Berlin and German questions can be solved only at the summit, not in Geneva.

In Bonn: Konrad Adenauer's decision to stay put as West German chancellor suggests an iron resolve on his part to resist any signs of Western softening in the face of Red pressure.

In East Berlin: There are open warnings by Red spokesmen of new tensions, even of blockading West Berlin. These are intended to prevent the use of West Berlin for the election of West Germany's new federal president July 1. The Americans, British and French, after their opinions had been sought, advised Bonn against any such move because it might be considered provocative.

In Sofia and Tirana: Bulgarian and Albanian Communist leaders, after conferring with Khrushchev, are considering the establishment of rocket-launching sites to offset those to be set up in Italy, Greece and Turkey.

SRC Abandons Plans For Service Area

BALTIMORE (AP)—Failure of the General Assembly to provide necessary legislation and other factors have caused the State Road Commission to drop plans for a pilot service station restaurant on the Baltimore-Washington Expressway.

SRC member John J. McMullen made the announcement of abandonment of the plan first advanced in 1957.

Sen. Louis N. Phipps (D-Anne Arundel) sponsored a measure in the 1959 Assembly to prohibit the roads commission from building the service areas on limited access highways from which private operators are now barred.

Gov. Tawes had said he would approve legislation to limit the service areas to the expressway, but vetoed the bill passed because it would have applied to the entire state.

Motels, restaurants, service stations and other groups opposed the plan under which the State would build the facility for lease to private operators. The opponents claimed the state would be able to control a private business.

Flatop Sailors Paint Protest

ALAMEDA, Calif. (AP)—Sailors aboard the big aircraft carrier Hancock, aggrieved because surprise sailing orders denied them weekend liberty, painted a protest message on the flight deck.

"Give me liberty or give me death" was daubed in foot-high letters under the bridge.

The Navy said a full-scale investigation—and a paint chipping job—was launched as the carrier went out to sea Saturday.

Investigating officers started their inquiry with no lack of suspects. About 3,000 sailors had missed their scheduled weekend liberty.

In Moscow Monday: Leaders of Communist East Germany begin talks with Khrushchev that may hold the key not only to the current Geneva negotiations but also those in prospect later on. Their decisions almost certainly will determine whether a breakthrough can be expected here in the coming week. An East German spokesman in Berlin said the Berlin and German questions can be solved only at the summit, not in Geneva.

In Bonn: Konrad Adenauer's decision to stay put as West German chancellor suggests an iron resolve on his part to resist any signs of Western softening in the face of Red pressure.

In East Berlin: There are open warnings by Red spokesman of new tensions, even of blockading West Berlin. These are intended to prevent the use of West Berlin for the election of West Germany's new federal president July 1. The Americans, British and French, after their opinions had been sought, advised Bonn against any such move because it might be considered provocative.

In Sofia and Tirana: Bulgarian and Albanian Communist leaders, after conferring with Khrushchev, are considering the establishment of rocket-launching sites to offset those to be set up in Italy, Greece and Turkey.

Mutual of Omaha in celebrating its Golden Anniversary announces a major break-through in hospital protection

A NEW HOSPITAL-SURGICAL PLAN THAT PROTECTS FOR LIFE

HELPS PAY THE SMALL BILLS . . . AND THE BIG ONES!

PAYS YOU UP TO $25.00 A DAY

EVERY HOSPITALIZATION

Everybody talks about the high cost of hospital service—but now Mutual of Omaha has actually done something about it! Yes, the new Golden Anniversary Hospital-Surgical Plan pays you up to $25.00 a day during hospitalization, according to the plan you select—to help bring you the very best in modern hospital care. You can apply these maximum daily room benefits to private room, semiprivate, or whatever accommodations you choose! Or even cover for dental surgery, service, or repair! (Policy Forms 30H—30FH)

PAYS FOR AS LONG AS

FOR ACCIDENT OR ILLNESS

Most hospital plans will cover you for 30, 60, 90, or even 120 days. But for a long-term stay in the hospital—this often isn't enough! Under the new Golden Anniversary Hospital-Surgical Plan, you can collect benefits for up to 500 days, while hospitalized—over 1 1/2 years! This is true long-term protection—the kind you want for yourself and your family . . . and unlike many other plans that cancel you out at age 65, your plan will continue to pay full daily hospital room benefits for hospitalization beginning after age 65, for as long as 30 days. (Policy Forms 30H—30FH)

MATERNITY BENEFITS, TOO!

You collect up to $250.00, according to plan selected and length of confinement, whether your child is delivered in or out of the hospital! Double benefits for twins! Benefits paid for any childbirth occurring more than 10 months after policy date when both husband and wife are covered during full term of pregnancy. (Policy Form 30FH)

PAYS FROM $7.50 TO $375.00

FOR SURGERY, DISLOCATION OR FRACTURE

This big benefit plan helps bring you the surgical care you need, too! Liberal schedule of benefits provides from $7.50 to $375.00 for operations. Even covers dislocations and fractures. Pays whether operation takes place in hospital, doctor's office, or your own home. (Rider 1710M)

ASK ABOUT THESE OTHER FAMOUS PLANS:

- Income Protection
- Major Medical
- Travel Insurance
- "5-20"
- Income Protection Plan for Young Families
- Paymaster Plan

PAYS UP TO $1000.00

FOR MEDICINES, HYPODERMICS, SURGICAL DRESSINGS, X-RAYS, OTHER HOSPITAL "EXTRAS"

An important advance in meeting the cost of hospital "extras"! These important services often cost you more than all other hospital expenses combined! Now Mutual's Golden Anniversary Hospital-Surgical Plan pays the first $100.00 of total expense incurred for Medicines, Hypodermics, Operating Room, Surgical Dressings and Casts, Blood Transfusions (administrative only), use of Oxygen, X-ray, Anesthetic, Laboratory Service. Also pays a total of such expenses in excess of $100.00 up to a total in cash benefits of $1,000.00! Even pays up to $25.00 for Ambulance Service to or from hospital! (Rider 1703M)

PAYS UP TO $500.00

FOR DOCTOR CALLS IN HOSPITAL

Pays up to $3.00 per day for doctor calls when surgery is not necessary—up to a total of $500.00. (Rider 1711M)

PAYS UP TO $10.00

FOR EACH EMERGENCY MEDICAL TREATMENT OF MINOR INJURY

. . . whether at home, at the hospital as an out-patient, or at doctor's office.

YOU PAY NO "MEMBERSHIP" OR "POLICY" FEE when you join.

COVERS YOU ANYWHERE IN THE UNITED STATES,

Canada, Hawaii, Mexico, Canal Zone, or West Indies—up to 6 months' coverage anywhere else in the world! Covers accidents occurring after policy date. Covers sickness originating more than 30 days from policy date . . . 90 days in case of heart trouble, hernia, female trouble, and sickness resulting in surgery. Only exceptions: loss caused by war or military service, mental conditions, Workmen's Compensation or Employers' Liability cases, services provided or paid for by the United States Government. Hospital benefits, but not surgical benefits, paid for dental surgery, service, or repair.

No matter how many times you collect benefits—your policy cannot be cancelled!

No matter how many thousands of dollars you receive in benefits—your policy cannot be cancelled!

Even if you become such a "poor risk" that other companies refuse to insure you—your policy cannot be cancelled!

The new Golden Anniversary Hospital-Surgical Plan is years ahead of its time! It protects you—not to age 50 or 65 or until you become "uninsurable"—but for the rest of your life! Now you no longer have to jeopardize your future—and that of your family—with plans that can be taken away from you, should you reach a certain age or become a "poor risk"! Here's protection you can count on—year after year after year!

No matter how many times you collect benefits—no matter how your physical condition changes—this new Hospital-Surgical Plan with the Lifetime Renewal Safeguard is yours to keep for as long as you wish. It can never be cancelled for health reasons. Renewal can be refused only in case of fraud. And here's another big "plus": your premiums can never be increased unless changed for all policies of your class!

A COMPLETE PLAN BY ITSELF—

or combine it with your present coverage

Here's a plan so comprehensive that it will cover every member of your family—yet so flexible it can be adjusted to fit in with any other insurance you may now have! Yes, you can have all or only part of this great new plan—according to your needs and pocketbook. Remember: to help meet today's higher hospital and surgical costs, most people need more protection than they are now carrying.

So don't delay! It costs nothing to find out about Mutual's great new Golden Anniversary Hospital-Surgical Plan with the Lifetime Renewal Safeguard—backed by the largest organization of its kind in the world—a company that pays out over $2,000,000 in cash benefits each week! State Will Reject Offer Of Free Land For New DMV Building

BALTIMORE (AP) — A businessman has offered to give the state 10 acres as the site for a new building for the Department of Motor Vehicles.

However, the offer of the land west of here in Baltimore County is due to be rejected because of a lack of suitable roads and utilities.

Samuel J. Berg of Stevenson, offered the land to the state in a letter to Gov. Tawes May 14.

The proposal will be placed before the Board of Public Works at its monthly meeting Tuesday, said secretary Andrew Heubeck Jr. However, he added, it will receive an unfavorable report.

The land Berg offered is part of a 98-acre area and he said he is ready to sell the state three additional acres it would need for a "reasonable" sum — about $5,000 each.

Heubeck said he had inspected the proposed location along with James J. O'Donnell, director of the Department of Public Improvements, and John R. Jewell, commissioner of motor vehicles.

O'Donnell was quoted by Heubeck as having given an unfavorable report because the land is not easily accessible to main roads. And sewer and water lines do not run close by. There would be considerable expense in installing these, the report stated.

The Board of Public Works is due to have another contract presented for consideration at the Tuesday meeting. This involves a 13-acre tract off Ritchie Highway in Anne Arundel County which would cost the State $12,500 an acre.

The group of men who own that land bought it for $5,000 an acre 16 months ago and wanted $16,000 an acre from the state. Out of the bargaining came the $12,500 figure.

Leonardo da Vinci drew plans for gliders, but he never tried them out.

Rocky Mountain Fever Reported

BALTIMORE (AP) — The first case of Rocky Mountain spotted fever reported in Maryland this year was caught by a 70-year-old Carroll County man.

The Baltimore City Health Department reported the case Saturday.

The disease usually is transmitted by the bite of infected ticks. In the past five years, Maryland has recorded 90 cases of the fever and four deaths from it.

The engine of a three-seat plane failed Saturday as the pilot tried to gain altitude after coming in too fast for a landing, causing the craft to crash and injuring two men.

The injured were George W. Sylvia Jr. of Silver Spring, the pilot and owner of the Piper Super Cruiser, and William McGarvey, Prince Georges County Police said Sylvia tried to avoid hitting a factory near the College Park airport after the engine died, but the plane crashed and flipped on its back. The plane was described as a complete loss.

Commencement Speaker Calls For Laughter

CHESTERTOWN, Md. (AP) — "The person who has lost the gift of laughter is no better than a cow, though I may be doing that useful beast an injustice."

That was the keynote of a commencement address Sunday by Dr. George Boas, emeritus professor of the history of philosophy at the Johns Hopkins University, at Washington College.

"His address was entitled, 'In Defense of Laughter.' And that's exactly what it was."

While being a solemn moment, he said, "Commencements have their laughable aspect."

"We put on robes like those of medieval monks and are given diplomas written in a dead language which only a few of us can read. Metaphors derived from navigation, such as the stormy seas of life's voyage, the perils of shipwreck, the mountainous waves and lashing winds, though most of us did nothing more dangerous than go into our father's businesses."

When a speechmaker shouts and beats his breast, Boas said, "our best defense is laughter, for laughter is freedom manifesting itself in irrefutable fashion . . ."

"If each time Krushchev erupted with one of his nonsensical denunciations of the United States and our western allies, he was greeted with guffaws instead of self-righteous explanations, he might change his tune and, even if he didn't, we should enjoy ourselves."

"As it is, our terror increases and, judging from the newspapers and the radio commentators, we seem to spend most of our time answering arguments which are ostensibly false."

"Why bother? Whom are we convincing? Not the Russians, for they hear only what their masters want them to hear."

"Ourselves? Then we are simply whistling in the dark . . ."

"I don't know whether any government today does have the confidence of its people, but should there be one, it would be found to go on its ways serenely without daily denunciation of others. One can enjoy one's ham and eggs for breakfast without screaming that others have only bread and water."

"We need never apologize for being more human but should on the contrary express our humility in the most natural way. This will seem frivolous to those who believe that the beehive or the ant hill are the models on which we should build our society, but it may give some comfort to those who have retained shreds of volition and a desire for peace."

Dr. Boas, Governor Tawes and William W. Raymond Horney of Centerville were given honorary degrees during the commencement exercises.

American carpets are truly international. It is possible for a single carpet to contain fibers from Argentina, New Zealand, Iran, India, Scotland and North Africa. The reason for this is that the wool in these countries compares favorably with that from U. S. sheep.

Potomac Chart Available

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new navigational chart for the Potomac River is just off the presses.

The opinions of over 24,000 small-craft owners and operators were solicited by the Coast and Geodetic Survey for guidance in developing the new chart.

A program was started in July 1958 to develop four different types of charts covering the Potomac River. Three thousand copies of each type were printed and distributed to boat owners and operators with questionnaires.

On the basis of replies to more than 23,000 questionnaires the new series was decided upon. Officially known as small-craft chart series 101, Potomac River, the new chart is printed on 14½ by 32 inch paper, folded into four panels.

It divides the river into three cruising areas. Each sheet carries the insets, photos and facility information for the base chart.

The new chart sells for $1.50 a copy and is available from sales agents throughout the Potomac River area and from the Washington office of the Coast and Geodetic Survey.

Do You Have Arthritis?

HERE IS A MESSAGE YOU WILL WANT TO READ.

Your doctor can tell you there is absolutely no known cure for arthritis. Medical research specialists are now engaged in several projects which, it is felt, will ultimately help in finding a cure, but as yet none has been found. Naturally, we all live in hope they will be successful, but until that time we must be content to get the best relief possible.

Right now there is a fast, safe and effective relieving agent available called Pruvo. Pruvo's ingredients have been used in hospitals and clinics, prescribed by doctors, and have helped scores of men and women to lead happy and full lives. You can be sure nothing is faster, safer, or has been proven more effective than Pruvo for temporary easing of a minor arthritic condition or its related diseases: rheumatism, neuritis, sciatica, lumbago and bursitis. And it's wonderful for backache and every-day muscular aches and pains too. Try Pruvo today. Ask your druggist for a generous 75-tablet trial-size bottle. You must be satisfied with the results or your purchase price will be refunded by the maker. There are larger, economy sizes also, for continued use.

Mayor Makes Appointments

MIDLAND—The new town council was sworn in by Magistrate John Meyers at the meeting of the Mayor and Town Council. The officials include: Mayor Lionel D. Baker; Councilmen Alex Rennie, J. Dewey Williams, and Melvin Loar; Town Clerk, Harry Youngblood; Treasurer, J. Edwin Writers; Tax Collector, Hazel Taylor; Bailiff, Joseph Monahan.

Mayor Baker made the appointments as follows: Street Commissioners—Donald Cook and Alex Rennie; Light and Water Commissioners—Harry Devlin and Melvin Loar; Finance—John Blair and J. Dewey Williams.

An ordinance prohibiting junk yard operation within the town limits, was read and passed by the council for the first reading. Mayor Baker stated that the second and final reading will be held at the next council meeting, Monday, July 6. The ordinance states that no person or persons will be allowed to operate scrap metal operations on public or private property.

Provisions include (1) storage of used metals, wood or other materials, (2) the sale or trading of scrap metal, used wood and other material. Violation will result in a fine of $100.00.

Street Commissioner Donald Cook, reported that all streets had been cleaned, but due to the heavy rains, some of the limestone that had been placed on the shoulders of the streets had been washed out and needed repairs. He stated that the high waters had clogged some of the main sewers, and they would have to be cleaned out this week.

Commissioner Rennie stated that due to inclement weather, work on the new playground had been temporarily halted, but that the new baskets, for basketball would be erected in the near future.

Commissioner Harry Devlin reported that all fire plugs would be tested and that the main water lines had been cleaned by the Lonaconing Water Company, which has resulted in more water pressure for the fire plugs, and all private use.

Mayor Baker also said a new set of rules for the garbage dump had been drawn up, and will be strictly enforced.

The incumbent councilmen are Harry Devlin, John Blair and Donald Cook.

Tri-Valley Boy Scout District Elects Luke

KEYSER—John Luke, manager of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company at Luke, was elected chairman of Tri-Valley District, Boy Scouts of America, for 1959-60 at the monthly meeting in Lonaconing.

Named to serve as vice chairman were Dr. Donald Whitworth, Westernport; David Nuzum, Keyser, and Charles Park, Petersburg.

Julian Patrick, chairman of the nominating committee, recommended I. Fred Anderson, of Keyser, as commissioner, an office that is officially filled by the Potomac Council Board.

Landon Minnick, of Keyser, district executive, will serve as coordinator and director of Scouting activities for Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorers.

The chairman, commissioner and executive form the "key three" of district activities and will recommend for approval chairman for organization and extension, camping and activities, finance, health and safety, advancement and leadership training. All officers and chairmen must serve for one year, taking office July 1.

The new district chairman served as vice chairman during the past year and replaces David Nuzum who has served as district chairman the past five years. The district now serves more than 800 boys in over 40 units located in the Tri-Towns, Keyser and South Branch Valley.

Observing Freedom Of Expression

Yesterday was Freedom of the Press Day in the Americas, an event which this year carries much greater importance than the name implies. Freedom of expression is one of the basic liberties of man that have been challenged by the Communist hordes which have swept over much of the Old World.

Freedom of expression is the primary object of suppression by dictators, because with a free press and the unhampered right of each individual to express himself on any issue he chooses there can be no enslavement.

Communication, or lack of it, often spells the difference between freedom and slavery. There is no easier way to stifle opposition than to silence exchanges of thoughts between citizens. Freedom of the press is not a special privilege given to one industry — it is the inviolate right of all free men.

Freedom of the press guarantees the right to disagree with one's neighbor, the local politicians, those at the head of the national government, and indeed every person or organization the individual may dislike.

Free expression can never be a privilege granted to a nation's citizens by the ruling clique. It must be a guaranteed right, religiously safeguarded by all elected and appointed officials without exception, or it ceases to exist. There can be no modified free speech or controlled free press — either they are free or they are not.

Inhabitants of the Americas are fortunate to enjoy a high degree of free speech and press. There are many millions of fellow human beings — inhabitants of more than one-half the world's land mass — who do not enjoy this right. With their domination by twisted minds carrying terrifying weapons, they lose their right to criticize, even their right to choose, even their right to exist.

The Western Hemisphere is not without its tyrants, but they have fortunately been reduced in recent years to a point of low influence. It is to their complete eradication and the guarantee that those who replace them will never again silence men's tongues or pens that the nations of the Americas rededicate themselves each June 7.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The American Way Of Life

The United States is a republican form of government, the laws for it being made by two houses of Congress in which sit representatives of the people duly elected. This form of government is being challenged by the formidable James Hoffa, leader of the Teamsters. He makes his own laws. He decides how the country is to be controlled. He does so in his own words which leave nothing to the imagination. Take this from a prolonged interview which appeared in "Life" magazine:

"... He (Hoffa) established what he regards as the cardinal Teamsters rule: 'We don't arbitrate grievances,' he proclaims. 'We strike the bastards instead.' And once a strike is started, Hoffa literally strangles his victim by degrees. 'First,' he says, 'we close down this guy's outfit where the trouble is. Then, if he won't settle, we close him down (i.e., prevent him from doing business) in the surrounding states. Then if he still won't settle we close him down across the whole goddamn country.'"

(Begging pardon for the language which is Hoffa's, not mine.)

In a word, controlling transportation, he will strike the entire United States, if it suits his purpose. Is this man to be our Mussolini or Hitler or are we to have representative government in accordance with the Constitution?

As one reads this extensive interview with Hoffa, it is not possible to avoid fearing for the welfare of the country. This man respects nothing. He will do anything and says so. Describing his bribery of John C. Cheasty, a lawyer hired to purloin data from the McClellan Committee, Hoffa said:

"This was a war, and Cheasty was a goddamned double agent. Cheasty even admitted in sworn testimony that I hired him first. So the committee was really hiring my lawyer."

Brought up on this bribery charge, Hoffa was acquitted by a jury which included eight Negroes and during the trial, Joe Louis sauntered into the court room and overtly fraternized with Hoffa. Nobody was going to convict Joe Louis' friend in that court. It may have been clever but it was also foul.

This is what Hoffa thinks of Congress and the Constitution:

"... If Congress is stupid enough to pass a bill banning secondary boycotts we'll fix it so all our contracts expire on the same day."

In a word, he denies the right of Congress to legislate for the United States. He, Hoffa, is the law and whoever challenges him had better look out. He will devise methods to avert the law and no employers of labor will dare to oppose him.

The real danger is not Hoffa who is a small guy with a big head. The danger is that the Congress of the United States bows to such creatures. More and more, the American people are not electing the most able and competent persons in their states to either house of Congress. They are electing men who talk big but who are tightly controlled by those who contribute to their campaign funds. Less often does one see a noble figure in either the House of Representatives or the Senate. Competent men are unwilling to run for office; more and more men run for Congressional representation for the income it brings. It is just a job and often, for some, a very good job at higher pay than they could earn in any other way.

When Hoffa shows his contempt for Congress, he does it as a master for those who serve him, and he has neither the background nor training to be moved by any cause nobler than his will. He may mature into a leader of higher moral calibre than the parochialism of his own union, but that will take more time than this country can afford.

The McClellan Committee has served the country well to expose Hoffa to the American people. He is contemptuous of that committee, but this country has seen punky rise to be big shots before and has found ways to limit their exercise of power. Dave Beck, who was Hoffa's superior in the Teamsters Union, has discovered that no matter how handicapped and delayed, the law somehow does catch up with those who regard themselves as above the law whether they be racketeers, gangsters, industrialists or labor leaders. In the end, even those in Hoffa's union will support the law.

'Feathers And All'

Summit Prospects And The Kremlin's Game

By David Lawrence

LONDON — President Eisenhower has a trump card in world affairs today, and on how he plays it depends the future success of international negotiations during the "cold war."

Will the President really go to a "summit" conference on the basis of vague generalities, or will he insist on tangible progress at the Geneva conference? To say that the four foreign ministers are not themselves principals and can decide nothing themselves is to emphasize the form at the expense of the substance. For what Western foreign minister has not faithfully reproduced at Geneva the views of his head of state? There is no give-and-take at a "summit" meeting of a few days such as there can be at a foreign ministers' conference. If the current conference at Geneva gets nowhere, a similar failure awaits a "summit" meeting. For, after all, governments—not just individuals—are negotiating at Geneva.

Mr. Eisenhower has tried to please those elements in the public opinion of the world which say, "Let's get together and talk." Certainly there is no objection to discussion, but it can bring despair and even alarm as one side dictates to the other and gets away with it. Public psychology is quick to recognize timidity and defeatism. It also perceives soon the arrogance of the dictator. When the climax comes, public opinion will not applaud any chief of state who travels to a "summit" meeting only to be pushed around in a welter of words and propaganda utterances that do not advance by one iota the peace of the world.

The Soviet game is plain to see. Why should they make any concessions if the West is in the mood to overlook Communist aggressions? The threat by the Kremlin to drive the Western allies out of Berlin has been only temporarily abandoned. The Geneva conference is still under the duress of that threat no matter how the Western governments may try to convince their own peoples that a change has taken place. Nikita Khrushchev now is endeavoring to set up a hostile situation with potential threats against the free countries in southern Europe. That's the true meaning of his trip to Albania, defiantly undertaken even while the Geneva conference was in session.

Mr. Eisenhower told his press conference on Wednesday that results thus far at Geneva do not justify a "summit" meeting. This came like a breath of fresh air to the diplomatic precincts of Europe. It signified resoluteness and determination. But it was qualified, and the value of the utterance was lost somewhat by the President's further comment about the limitations of a foreign

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

Publishers are readying a raft of biographical books for this fall's and next spring's market. The biographies are of such people as Vice President Richard M. Nixon, N. Y. Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, Senators John F. Kennedy, Hubert Humphrey and Stuart Symington, and Adlai Stevenson.

All have one thing in common—they are being prominently mentioned as leading contenders for the presidential nomination of both major political parties next year.

In fact, that's why the books are being published. It happens every four years, and one wonders whether sales justify the investment. There are some observers who weren't born yesterday, who insist that the authors and publishers make some of their money from private donations from supporters of the principal characters.

The government and some business organizations are wrestling with a tough problem—an expansion of the sudden vast expansion in scientific and medical research. The problem is how to keep track of the thousands of research projects to avoid costly duplication.

Within security limitations, the government is perfectly willing to publicize what it is working on, the status of each project, and what has been accomplished.

However, private business, which is spending money on research in the hopes of developing new products, takes a different view. Anyone who can come up with a workable solution has a guaranteed successful business.

Don't Let Your Job Kill You: It Isn't Worth It

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Habitual overfatigue should be avoided at any cost because judgment, initiative, and endurance are affected. The over-tired person loses his sense of proportion. Molehills become mountains, trifles are ogres, and concentration is impossible. Work that comes easy when rested takes hours to accomplish.

The more tired the individual, the more difficult it is to finish the task at hand. Skill is lost and work no longer is automatic. In this respect, overfatigue starts a vicious circle—the less sleep, the more fatigue, and vice versa.

It is not easy to explain this setup to the sufferer because he is frustrated, on edge, and incapable of thinking rationally. The personality changes and these people are hard to live with.

Sleep is the answer but the question is how to get it when the heat is on. These episodes can be tolerated when they are emergencies of a temporary nature. But the mental or physical breaking point is bound to come unless the individual can rest. A vacation may be the answer. At any rate, something must be done so that health and efficiency will not be damaged.

The nervous breakdown is regarded as a sign of weakness in some quarters. The hardhearted business man poo-poo's the idea that overwork is responsible. But he can understand the physical breakdown that comes in the form of peptic ulcer, high blood pressure, or coronary thrombosis.

If you must work long and hard, make it a rule to include an hour or two of complete rest in the daily schedule. This may string out the day but the task at hand will be done more quickly and efficiently after an interval of relaxation.

(Dr. Van Dellen has a leaflet on fatigue that he will send if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

If additional help is not available, sit down and think things over. Ask yourself what your job is expected to accomplish and whether it is worth the risk to you, your family, and the boss.

TOMORROW: Radioactive fallout.

REDUCING TABLETS
REPLY: J. E. writes: What do reducing pills contain?

Chemicals that decrease appetite and impart a feeling of well being. Most of the compounds contain an amphetamine and require a prescription. One objection to these products is that they may lose their effect after a few weeks. Sometimes they produce nervousness, apprehension, depression, insomnia, headache, or exhaustion. Nonamphetamine tablets are available; they are said to curtail appetite and improve the mood without producing jitteriness. Preludin is one brand of this type of medication.

BEHAVIOR OF ELDER
R. P. writes: Why does an older man of 56 blow his top when he drinks elderberry wine?

REPLY: It's the alcohol plus his temperament. I doubt whether he would react differently if he switched from elderberry to youngberry wine.

Pearson Attends NATO Parley As Delegate, Not As Newsman

By Drew Pearson

(Editor's note: While Drew Pearson is serving as a delegate to the Atlantic Congress in London, his column is written by his associate, Jack Anderson.)

WASHINGTON — Although his reputation is built on scoops and scandals, Drew Pearson at heart is a crusader. He is now in London pursuing his favorite cause: People-to-People Friendship.

For the first time in over 30 years of covering diplomatic doings, he is attending an international conference not as a newsman but as a delegate. He must find it strange covering the talks from the inside instead of buttonholing the participants for news leaks.

Before departing, Drew confessed with a sly smile: "I don't know whether I should leak to myself or not."

From the Washington Arms conference in 1921 to the summit conference at Geneva in 1955, he has watched history unfold from ringside. But, of all the great world conclaves, none could stir him more than the Atlantic Congress of the NATO alliance which he is now attending. For its people-to-people theme is a tune he has played more than any other on his typewriter.

Drew probably originated the idea of people-to-people diplomacy. Readers of this column will remember:

1. The historic Friendship Train which rumbled across Europe with food from the American people. Drew conceived the idea and organized the train.

2. The Freedom Balloons which floated friendship messages to people behind the Iron Curtain. Those were the days before the first parts appeared in the Curtain.

3. Such other projects as the vote-for-Democracy Letters to Italy and the Messages-to-Moscow Contest for high school students.

Chat With Ike

But what readers won't remember, because Drew never wrote about it, is that he talked to Ike as early as 1948 about a people-to-people campaign to penetrate the Iron Curtain. They chatted privately at a luncheon where Ike presented Drew with the Father-Of-The-Year medal.

At this luncheon, Drew predicted Ike would become President of the United States, and tried to sell him on the need to win friends among the common people, not the commissars in Communist countries. Drew pointed out that dictatorships could start a war without worrying about a congress, churches, or a free press. But even dictators had to consider their people. Consequently the best guarantee against war, he said, was to reach the Russian people.

Ike showed little interest in the idea which 10 years ago was considered revolutionary. It was one reason why the late Sen. Joe McCarthy attacked Drew on the Senate floor. But undeterred, Drew kept flailing away at his idea in the column, on the radio, among government officials. He even took a trip along the Iron Curtain from Turkey up through Yugoslavia to Berlin, trying to organize a European committee to help get friendship messages to the Soviet and satellite peoples.

Some thought Drew was becoming a crank. Others, like Gen. Omar Bradley, then Chairman of the Joint Chiefs, and Assistant Secretary of State George Allen liked the idea.

Now it seems to be paying off. Thousands of students, teachers, scientists, businessmen, artists, and tourists are working at people-to-people friendship on both sides of the Iron Curtain. Even Ike, a skeptic at the start, has endorsed the program.

Perhaps you will excuse my boasting now that the boss has finally got some recognition as an official delegate to this people-to-people conference.

The "Big One"

Spitting out the words sharply, President Eisenhower made it clear the other day that he would use the H-bomb if a future "little war" should get too big for our conventional weapons.

He disclosed this to John Mahan, Commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, during a private, 40-minute White House conference. The young, live-wire VFW Commander stressed the need for a 900,000-man Army and 200,000 - man Marine Corps to meet the threat of limited wars.

Ike removed his glasses and slammed them down on his desk.

"Well, I'll tell you about limited wars," he snapped. "If three Army divisions, two Marine divisions and those..."

He stumbled for the right word. "Those darn things that float on the water and launch airplanes—what do they call them?" "Aircraft carriers, Mr. President," said an aide.

"Aircraft carriers," echoed the President. "If they can't handle it, we will throw the big one at them."

By the "big one," it was clear he meant the H-bomb.

Foreign Flashes

From Baghdad the American Embassy reports that Premier Kassem is successfully checking the spread of communism in Iraq. He has refused to carry out the death sentences slapped on Iraqi Nationalists by the pro-Communist military tribunal. In one Embassy dispatch, Kassem is quoted as calling court president Mahdawi a "court jester."

Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito snubbed a secret invitation to meet with Russia's Premier Khrushchev when he was in neighboring Albania last week. Khrushchev sent word he was ready to talk about a reconciliation with Tito if the Yugoslav leader would come to the Albanian capital of Tirana for a meeting. Tito didn't even bother to answer, but he let it be known indirectly that Khrushchev could come to Belgrade if he wanted to talk.

For nearly a month, American Ambassador Tom Whelan has been bombarding the State Department from Managua with urgent cables predicting an invasion of Nicaragua. Unfortunately, the State Department refused to believe his warnings. But almost to the day Whelan named, three plane-loads of rebels landed in Nicaragua to spearhead the revolt.

The Broadway Columnist—Part One

He reached into a closet and picked a dark hat to go with the black suit and tie. "You ready, Peggy?" he said. Louis Sobol put the hat on with care, looked around the big den breaded with books, and met his wife in the hall of the big apartment. They started out for the nightly rounds of Broadway. The time was 7:15 p. m.

Mr. Sobol is the last of the truly Broadway columnists. He is also the most beloved. He is a whisper this or that side of 60, a small man with shoulders no bigger than a brass knob. He has a sandy mustache, a big nose, a few hairs in memoriam of others. The shell rim glasses do not age.

He has been covering Broadway for 30 years. Unlike the others, Louis Sobol never permitted the adulation of readers to seduce him into punditry. He covers night spots and people period. A long time ago, he had a wife who was chronically ill and it wrecked Sobol to watch her slip slowly from his hands.

Nine years ago, he married Peggy Marlowe, a dancer and singer who had tried press agency too. The second Mrs. Sobol worked hard, not to erase the sorrowful memories of her man, but to make a new and finer life for him. Today, Peggy Marlowe, a slender woman addicted to dark sheaths, net stockings and dark eyes the size of hubcaps, is more than a wife. She's an assistant. She helps him in his work.

Sobol goes back to nightclubs many of you do not remember: The Silver Slipper, the Ha-Ha, Texas Guinan's, Barney Gallant's, the Cotton Club, Palais d'Or, Connie's, Leon & Eddie's, Will Oakland's Terrace, the Paradise, the 18 Club, the Hollywood. They're all gone.

So are most of the old habits. Now and then one sees Leonore Lemmon, a geni of out of a bottle of prohibition gin. But the others are gone. Charlie Sherman wanted to quit Broadway and the rackets and go fishing in the mountains. They found him in the mountains in a lake full of fish. He was in concrete. Eddie Davis is in Fort Lauderdale; Durante is still around; Feets Edison is never seen; Nicky Blair cracks an old joke; Barney Gallant is writing his memoirs; Larry Fay was shot; Peppy D'Albrow, who used to wear a white mouse in his lapel, runs a restaurant in the Village; the Leo Lin 'ys are dead; Dixie Davis runs orange juice stands; George White of the Scandals had four million and he now studies the racing form at Tijuana and bets $3. If he has it.

Some of the old Broadway columnists are gone; some have shifted to broader horizons: Mark

Hellinger is dead; so are Rian James and O. O. McIntyre. Ed Sullivan writes a couple of columns a week; Sidney Skolsky bounded from Vanity Fair to The News to Hollywood; Walter Winchell, the white-haired daddy of them all, now works the world beat and television too; Danton Walfer, Earl Wilson, Dorothy Kilgallen, Hy Gardner, Frank Farrell, all started on Broadway and left it for greer or pastures. There used to be names like Bide Dudley, Karl Kitchin, Rennold Wolf and S. J. Kaufman. These names are no longer familiar.

If you have never heard of Owey Madden and Big Frenchy de Mange, and Billy LaHiff and Silverman and Dinty More, you do not catch the melody of a time of life when the nightclubs were in vogue and a sad girl named Helen Morgan sat on a piano and twisted a handkerchief until it tore. It was a time when Richard Bennett, a fine actor, could wave his hand at the band and stop it in mid-Charleston, and take the floor to read 20 minutes from the Bible; a day when a west side kid named Georgy Raft danced alone on a club floor in wild madness until he fell from exhaustion.

That Broadway is gone. It died in or about 1935. On its headstone sit soft drink stands, record shops, blaring rock and roll, some movie palaces with lifted faces; dollar dolls and sailor hats with your name stitched on; haberdasheries; a squad car; the Astor, a doughnut shop, a five and ten, and a pool parlor.

At 7:20 p. m. Louis Sobol and his wife got into a cab. "Take me to 21," he said...

Observing Freedom Of Expression

Yesterday was Freedom of the Press Day in the Americas, an event which this year carries much greater importance than the name implies. Freedom of expression is one of the basic liberties of man that have been challenged by the Communist hordes which have swept over much of the Old World.

Freedom of expression is the primary object of suppression by dictators, because with a free press and the unhampered right of each individual to express himself on any issue he chooses there can be no enslavement.

Communication, or lack of it, often spells the difference between freedom and slavery. There is no easier way to stifle opposition than to silence exchanges of thoughts between citizens. Freedom of the press is not a special privilege given to one industry — it is the inviolate right of all free men.

Freedom of the press guarantees the right to disagree with one's neighbor, the local politicians, those at the head of the national government, and indeed every person or organization the individual may dislike.

Free expression can never be a privilege granted to a nation's citizens by the ruling clique. It must be a guaranteed right, religiously safeguarded by all elected and appointed officials without exception, or it ceases to exist. There can be no modified free speech or controlled free press — either they are free or they are not.

Inhabitants of the Americas are fortunate to enjoy a high degree of free speech and press. There are many millions of fellow human beings — inhabitants of more than one-half the world's land mass — who do not enjoy this right. With their domination by twisted minds carrying terrifying weapons, they lose their right to criticize, even their right to choose, even their right to exist.

The Western Hemisphere is not without its tyrants, but they have fortunately been reduced in recent years to a point of low influence. It is to their complete eradication and the guarantee that those who replace them will never again silence men's tongues or pens that the nations of the Americas rededicate themselves each June 7.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The American Way Of Life

The United States is a republican form of government, the laws for it being made by two houses of Congress in which sit representatives of the people duly elected. This form of government is being challenged by the formidable James Hoffa, leader of the Teamsters. He makes his own laws. He decides how the country is to be controlled. He does so in his own words which leave nothing to the imagination. Take this from a prolonged interview which appeared in "Life" magazine:

"... He (Hoffa) established what he regards as the cardinal Teamsters rule: 'We don't arbitrate grievances,' he proclaims. 'We strike the bastards instead.' And once a strike is started, Hoffa literally strangles his victim by degrees. 'First,' he says, 'we close down this guy's outfit where the trouble is. Then, if he won't settle, we close him down (i.e., prevent him from doing business) in the surrounding states. Then if he still won't settle we close him down across the whole goddamn country.'"

"(Begging pardon for the language which is Hoffa's, not mine.)"

In a word, controlling transportation, he will strike the entire United States, if it suits his purpose. Is this man to be our Mussolini or Hitler or are we to have representative government in accordance with the Constitution?

As one reads this extensive interview with Hoffa, it is not possible to avoid fearing for the welfare of the country. This man respects nothing. He will do anything and says so. Describing his bribery of John C. Cheasty, a lawyer hired to purloin data from the McClellan Committee, Hoffa said:

"This was a war, and Cheasty was a goddamned double agent. Cheasty even admitted in sworn testimony that I hired him first. So the committee was really hiring my lawyer."

Brought up on this bribery charge, Hoffa was acquitted by a jury which included eight Negroes and during the trial, Joe Louis sauntered into the court room and overtly fraternized with Hoffa. Nobody was going to convict Joe Louis' friend in that court. It may have been clever but it was also foul.

This is what Hoffa thinks of Congress and the Constitution:

"... If Congress is stupid enough to pass a bill banning secondary boycotts we'll fix it so all our contracts expire on the same day."

In a word, he denies the right of Congress to legislate for the United States. He, Hoffa, is the law and whoever challenges him had better look out. He will devise methods to avert the law and no employers of labor will dare to oppose him.

The real danger is not Hoffa who is a small guy with a big head. The danger is that the Congress of the United States bows to such creatures. More and more, the American people are not electing the most able and competent persons in their states to either house of Congress. They are electing men who talk big but who are tightly controlled by those who contribute to their campaign funds. Less often does one see a noble figure in either the House of Representatives or the Senate. Competent men are unwilling to run for office; more and more men run for Congressional representation for the income it brings. It is just a job and often, for some, a very good job at higher pay than they could earn in any other way.

When Hoffa shows his contempt for Congress, he does it as a master for those who serve him, and he has neither the background nor training to be moved by any cause nobler than his will. He may mature into a leader of higher moral caliber than the parochialism of his own union, but that will take more time than this country can afford.

The McClellan Committee has served the country well to expose Hoffa to the American people. He is contemptuous of that committee, but this country has seen punks rise to be big shots before and has found ways to limit their exercise of power. Dave Beck, who was Hoffa's superior in the Teamsters Union, has discovered that no matter how handicapped and delayed, the law somehow does catch up with those who regard themselves as above the law whether they be racketeers, gangsters, industrialists or labor leaders. In the end, even those in Hoffa's union will support the law.

'Feathers And All'

Summit Prospects And The Kremlin's Game

By David Lawrence

LONDON — President Eisenhower has a trump card in world affairs today, and on how he plays it depends the future success of international negotiations during the "cold war."

Will the President really go to a "summit" conference on the basis of vague generalities, or will he insist on tangible progress at the Geneva conference? To say that the four foreign ministers are not themselves principals and can decide nothing themselves is to emphasize the form at the expense of the substance. For what Western foreign minister has not faithfully reproduced at Geneva the views of his head of state? There is no give-and-take at a "summit" meeting of a few days such as there can be at a foreign ministers' conference. If the current conference at Geneva gets nowhere, a similar failure awaits a "summit" meeting. For, after all, governments—not just individuals—are negotiating at Geneva.

Mr. Eisenhower has tried to please those elements in the public opinion of the world which say, "Let's get together and talk." Certainly there is no objection to discussion, but it can bring despair and even alarm as one side dictates to the other and gets away with it. Public psychology is quick to recognize timidity and defeatism. It also perceives soon the arrogance of the dictator. When the climax comes, public opinion will not applaud any chief of state who travels to a "summit" meeting only to be pushed around in a welter of words and propaganda utterances that do not advance by one iota the peace of the world.

The Soviet game is plain to see. Why should they make any concessions if the West is in the mood to overlook Communist aggressions? The threat by the Kremlin to drive the Western allies out of Berlin has been only temporarily abandoned. The Geneva conference is still under the duress of that threat no matter how the Western governments may try to convince their own people that a change has taken place. Nikita Khrushchev now is endeavoring to set up a hostile situation with potential threats against the free countries in southern Europe. That's the true meaning of his trip to Albania, defiantly undertaken even while the Geneva conference was in session.

Mr. Eisenhower told his press conference on Wednesday that results thus far at Geneva do not justify a "summit" meeting. This came like a breath of fresh air to the diplomatic precincts of Europe. It signified restlessness and determination. But it was qualified, and the value of the utterance was lost somewhat by the President's further comment about the limitations of a for-

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

Publishers are readying a raft of biographical books for this fall's and next spring's market. The biographies are of such people as Vice President Richard M. Nixon, N. Y. Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, Senators John F. Kennedy, Hubert Humphrey and Stuart Symington, and Adlai Stevenson.

All have one thing in common—they are being prominently mentioned as leading contenders for the presidential nomination of both major political parties next year.

In fact, that's why the books are being published. It happens every four years, and one wonders whether sales justify the investment. There are some observers who weren't born yesterday, who insist that the authors and publishers make some of their money from private donations from supporters of the principal characters.

The government and some business organizations are wrestling with a tough problem—an outgrowth of the sudden vast expansion in scientific and medical research. The problem is how to keep track of the thousands of research projects to avoid costly duplication.

Within security limitations, the government is perfectly willing to publicize what it is working on, the status of each project, and what has been accomplished.

However, private business, which is spending money on research in the hopes of developing new products, takes a different view. Anyone who can come up with a guaranteed successful business,

Don't Let Your Job Kill You: It Isn't Worth It

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Habitual overfatigue should be avoided at any cost because judgment, initiative, and endurance are affected. The over-tired person loses his sense of proportion. Molehills become mountains, trifles are ogres, and concentration is impossible. Work that comes easy when rested takes hours to accomplish.

The more tired the individual, the more difficult it is to finish the task at hand. Skill is lost and work no longer is automatic. In this respect, overfatigue starts a vicious circle—the less sleep, the more fatigue, and vice versa.

It is not easy to explain this setup to the sufferer because he is frustrated, on edge, and incapable of thinking rationally. The personality changes and these people are hard to live with.

Sleep is the answer but the question is how to get it when the heat is on. These episodes can be tolerated when they are emergencies of a temporary nature. But the mental or physical breaking point is bound to come unless the individual can rest. A vacation may be the answer. At any rate, something must be done so that health and efficiency will not be damaged.

The nervous breakdown is regarded as a sign of weakness in some quarters. The hardhearted business man poo-poo's the idea that overwork is responsible. But he can understand the physical breakdown that comes in the form of peptic ulcer, high blood pressure, or coronary thrombosis.

If you must work long and hard, make it a rule to include an hour or two of complete rest in the daily schedule. This may string out the day but the task at hand will be done more quickly and efficiently after an interval of relaxation.

(Dr. Van Dellen has a leaflet on fatigue that he will send if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

If additional help is not available, sit down and think things over. Ask yourself what your job is expected to accomplish and whether it is worth the risk to you, your family, and the boss.

TOMORROW: Radioactive fallout.

REDUCING TABLETS
J.E. writes: What do reducing pills contain?

REPLY
Chemicals that decrease appetite and impart a feeling of well being. Most of the compounds contain an amphetamine and require a prescription. One objection to these products is that they may lose their effect after a few weeks. Sometimes they produce nervousness, apprehension, depression, insomnia, headache, or exhaustion. Nonamphetamine tablets are available; they are said to curtail appetite and improve the mood without producing jitteriness. Preludin is one brand of this type of medication.

BEHAVIOR OF ELDER
R.P. writes: Why does an older man of 55 blow his top when he drinks elderberry wine?

REPLY
It's the alcohol plus his temperament. I doubt whether he would react differently if he switched from elderberry to youngberry wine.

Two Harvard grads (grammarians, of course) were exploring an abandoned gold mine near Cripple Creek when from one shaft there suddenly came a dismal goan. "For heaven's sake," gasped one Cambridgeite, "who is there?" There followed another groan, and a weak voice rasping, "It's me." One Harvardian turned to the other and asked with a puzzled frown, "What do you think he's trying to say?"

Peter Fleming recalls that on the fateful day in World War II when Hitler unleashed his greatest armada on London, and blitzed the gallant British for six solid hours, the staid London Times — in moments of crisis perhaps the greatest character actor on the stage of public life in England — faithfully recorded the discovery in an air-raid shelter in Euston of a Great Crested Grebe!

"Include me out of college reunions," pleads Corey Ford. "You find your classmates have gotten so stout and bald they scarcely recognize you."

Pearson Attends NATO Parley As Delegate, Not As Newsman

By Drew Pearson

(Editor's note: While Drew Pearson is serving as a delegate to the Atlantic Congress in London, his column is written by his associate, Jack Anderson.)

WASHINGTON — Although his reputation is built on scoops and scandals, Drew Pearson at heart is a crusader. He is now in London pursuing his favorite cause: People-to-People Friendship.

For the first time in over 30 years of covering diplomatic doings, he is attending an international conference not as a newsman but as a delegate. He must find it strange covering the talks from the inside instead of bult-holing the participants for news leaks.

Before departing, Drew confessed with a sly smile: "I don't know whether I should leak to myself or not."

From the Washington arms conference in 1921 to the summit conference at Geneva in 1955, he has watched history unfold from ringside. But, of all the great world conclaves, none could stir him more than the Atlantic Congress of the NATO alliance which he is now attending. For its people-to-people theme is a tune he has played more than any other on his typewriter.

Drew probably originated the idea of people-to-people diplomacy. Readers of this column will remember:

1. The historic Friendship Train which rumbled across Europe with food from the Ameri-

eign ministers' conference. Possibly he had in mind not the Western envoys but the plight of the rubber-stamp Gromyko, who evidently cannot speak for his principal.

But is it worth going to a "summit" conference to recognize a dictator's power? Isn't it better to urge that the power to negotiate be delegated so that governments may deal with each other through chosen representatives? What is the real use of diplomatic relations if ambassadors can no longer transact business for their own governments? Mr. Eisenhower has the opportunity to put the accent on free government and freedom of intercourse rather than to accept the whims and wiles of a dictator as the only course open today.

Not is the cause of peace advanced by readiness to accept not merely weeks of useless negotiations such as have been taking place at Geneva but years of frequent "summit" meetings at which the heads of free governments are to be given the run-around.

The United States, as the leader of the free world and as the champion of representative government, should instead be appealing to the people of the Soviet Union to send a delegation that truly represents their wishes. For one man is not the master of 200,000,000 people and should never be recognized as such. As long as his dictatorship is accepted as inevitable and immutable, the prestige of free governments is bound to diminish and the cause of representative government is in the long run correspondingly injured in the eyes of freedom-loving peoples everywhere.

POOPED BY GOLF

R.W. writes: I'm 45 and don't seem to have the stamina I used to have when playing golf. The game exhausts me utterly, yet I know other men my age who still are peppy after 18 holes. And then there is the President. What's wrong with me?

REPLY
Anyone who tries easily ought to have a physical examination including blood tests for anemia, chest X-rays for tuberculosis, and metabolic tests. If the results of these studies are negative, and you are not suffering from an emotional disturbance and are not burning the candle at both ends, we must assume you came into the world with limited stamina.

INSANITY
Mrs. W. writes: My sons had good mental health before going into war service. Since then they have been in VA mental hospitals. My daughter is afraid to have a baby in case insanity runs in the family. Please advise on this situation?

REPLY
One of the penalties of war is the breakdown of soldiers who can't take it. Your daughter need not worry, as she may never encounter the stress required to reach the breaking point.

BLUSHING AT 40
D.K. writes: I heard that a drug has been discovered to retard or stop blushing. Will this pill help a 40 year old man?

REPLY
I have not heard of any anti-blush product. Hormones counteract the flush of a hot flash and the tranquilizers help those who blush through lack of poise.

3. Such other projects as the vote-for-Democracy Letters to Italy and the Messages-to-Moscow Contest for high school students.

Chat With Ike
But what readers won't remember, because Drew never wrote about it, is that he talked to Ike as early as 1948 about a people-to-people campaign to penetrate the Iron Curtain. They chatted privately at a luncheon where Ike presented Drew with the Father-Of-The-Year medal.

At this luncheon, Drew predicted Ike would become President of the United States, and tried to sell him on the need to win friends among the common people, not the commissars in Communist countries. Drew pointed out that dictatorships could start a war without worrying about a congress, churches, or a free press. But even dictators had to consider their people. Consequently the best guarantee against war, he said, was to reach the Russian people. Ike showed little interest in the idea which 10 years ago was considered revolutionary. It was one reason why the late Sen. Joe McCarthy attacked Drew on the Senate floor. But undeterred, Drew kept flailing away at his idea in the column, on the radio, among government officials. He even took a trip along the Iron Curtain from Turkey up through Yugoslavia to Berlin, trying to organize a European committee to help get friendship messages to the Soviet and satellite peoples.

Some thought Drew was becoming a crank. Others, like Gen. Omar Bradley, then Chairman of the Joint Chiefs, and Assistant Secretary of State George Allen liked the idea.

Now it seems to be paying off. Thousands of students, teachers, scientists, businessmen, artists, and tourists are working at people-to-people friendship on both sides of the Iron Curtain. Even Ike, a skeptic at the start, has endorsed the program.

Perhaps you will excuse my boasting now that the boss has finally got some recognition as an official delegate to this peopleand a sad girl named Helen Morgan sat on a piano and twisted a handkerchief until it tore. It was a time when Richard Bennett, a fine actor, could wave his hand at the band and stop it in mid-Charleston, and take the floor to read 20 minutes from the Bible; a day when a west side kid named George Raft danced alone on a club floor in wild madness until he fell from exhaustion.

He thumbed for the right word. "Those darn things that float on the water and launch airplanes—what do they call them?" "Aircraft carriers, Mr. President," said an aide.

That Broadway is gone. It died in or about 1935. On its headstone sit soft drink stands, record shops, blaring rock and roll, some movie palaces with lifted faces; dollar dolls and sailor hats with your name stitched on; haberdasheries; a squid car; the Astor, a doughnut shop, a five and ten, and a pool parlor.

At 7:20 p. m. Louis Sobol and his wife got into a cab. "Take me to 21," he said.

To be continued.

Hoyt Wilhelm Beats K.C., 3-0, For 9th Consecutive Win

Gus Triandos Clouts 13th Four-Bagger

Orioles' Hurler Reduces His ERA To 0.999 For Year

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Knuckleballer Hoyt Wilhelm pitched his ninth consecutive victory without a loss for Baltimore Sunday, a 3-0 shutout of the Kansas City Athletics.

Wilhelm limited Kansas City to seven scattered hits and struck out three. He issued one walk. The result reduced his earned run average to 0.999, best in the American League.

Billy Klaus got Wilhelm the only run he needed with a single to center in the fourth inning that scored Bob Hale, who had doubled to right.

But Gus Triandos added insurance in the sixth inning with a home run over the left field fence—his 13th four-bagger—after Al Filarek got aboard with a walk.

The Athletics loaded the bases in the eighth inning on singles by Zeke Belia and Joe Demaestri and a walk to Bill Tuttle. But two were out, and Wilhelm got Whitey Herzog to bounce to Billy Klaus at third and retire the side.

The A's used three pitchers. The starter and loser was Ray Herbert, whose record now is 4-4.

Wilhelm (3-9) pitched 7 1/2 innings, allowing only three hits and one walk. He struck out three batters.

Triandos (13-10) hit his 13th four-bagger off Herbert in the sixth inning.

Cubs Top Pirates Twice, Sweep Four-Game Series

Henry And Elston Star In Relief In 4-2 And 1-0 Wins

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Top-flight relief pitching by Bill Henry and Don Elston enabled the Chicago Cubs to beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 4-2 and 1-0 Sunday for a sweep of their four-game series.

Southpaw Harvey Haddix lost the first game and righthander Bob Friend the second. Haddix now is 4-4 and Friend, a 22-game winner last season 2-8.

John Bushardt and Elmer Singleton, a pair of righthanders, were credited with the victories. Each pitched in near flawless fashion until the eighth inning of each game.

Henry, who also pitched to one man in the second game, nailed down Bushardt's second win of the season against as many losses.

Henry came on in the eighth with two Pirates on base, one run in and two out. He got Ted Kluszewski on a pop foul, then gave up only a harmless walk in the ninth.

The Cubs scored one run in the first inning of the opener and nailed down the victory with Ernie Banks two-run double in the fifth. Bobby Thomson added an insurance run with a leadoff homer in the eighth.

Cardwell was forced to leave the game because of an injury to his right thumb and right shoulder in an ensuing scuffle. Cardwell remained in the game.

Cardwell exchanged words with Cardinals' catcher Ted Simmons and then strode toward him after a Cardinals' 4-2 pitch forced him into the dust. Cardwell well came out to meet Simmons and caught him with a gloving blow to the face and the outfielder fell.

Cardwell then leaped on the prone Simmons and the two men tumbled on the third base side of the infield. Players from both benches and the bull pens rushed out on the diamond.

Two St. Louis players pulled Cardwell off Simmons by the legs. Manager Solly Hemus of the Cardinals and pitcher Robin Roberts of the Phillies engaged in a heated exchange but order was restored.

Cardwell tossed another pitch to Simmons. He then signaled for a cold towel and manager Eddie Sawyer of the Phils then decided to lift him in favor of Jack Meyer.

Herb Score Turns Back Yanks, 7-5

New York Homers Trim McLish, 4-3

CLEVELAND (AP)—The New York Yankees pounced on Cal McLish for four runs in the second inning and went on to defeat the Cleveland Indians 4-3 in the second game of a doubleheader Sunday. The Indians won the opener 7-5 to break a seven-game losing streak.

McLish, who retired the Yankees in order in the first inning, lasted only 1 2/3 innings in losing his third game. He has won five, two of them against the Yankees.

Duke Maas started for the Yankees, but was chased in the seventh inning when the Indians got their three runs. Ryne Duren, who pitched two-thirds of an inning in the opener, came on to put out the fire. The victory was the fourth for Maas against three defeats.

The Yankees sent 10 batters to the plate in their second-inning spurge. Yogi Berra opened the inning with a home run over the right field fence and ended it with a pop fly to third baseman Granby Hamner. Marv Throneberry hit a homer into the right field stands with two men on.

Herb Score hurled a six-hitter in the opener to win his sixth game against three losses. The loser was Don Larsen, the first of four Yankees pitchers. The loss was his first of the season after five wins.

Braves Score Eight In 7th, Post 8-2 Win

Dodgers Are Held To 4 Hits By Buhl

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves exploded for eight runs in the seventh inning Sunday to salvage the finale of a three-game series from the Los Angeles Dodgers 8-2. Bob Buhl pitched four-hit ball as the Braves ended a three-game losing streak.

The defending champions broke out of their hitting slump with vengeance against their most persistent tormentor, Don Drysdale. Held to eight runs and 21 hits in their three straight defeats and shut out on five hits by Drysdale for six innings, they suddenly went on a six-hit spree which netted their biggest inning of the year. Their previous one inning high was seven runs against Cincinnati May 10.

Bill Bruton, who had four hits all told, singled twice in the wild session. The key hit, though, was a base-clearing pinch double by Andy Pafko with the bases loaded.

The Dodgers scored their two runs on homers by Gil Hodges and Don Demeter in the seventh and eighth, respectively. Hodges' blow gave them a 1-0 lead going into the bottom of the seventh.

Then the roof fell in on Drysdale. He allowed four runs and four hits in the seventh and eighth.

Bruton (4-1) pitched 7 1/2 innings, allowing only three hits and one walk. He struck out three batters.

Buhl (5-2) pitched 7 1/2 innings, allowing only three hits and one walk. He struck out three batters.

Yost's Homers Help Detroit Beat Senators

Tigers Make Sweep 3-Game Series, 6-4

By DAVE DILES

Associated Press Sports Writer

DETROIT (AP)—A pair of home runs by Eddie Yost against his old Washington teammates supplied the margin of victory Sunday as Detroit beat the Senators 6-4 and completed a sweep of the three-game series.

Yost drove in three runs with his 11th and 12th round trippers, hitting a two-run blast in the third and adding another with the bases empty in the seventh. Charlie Maxwell also hit his 11th home run in the third as Detroit wiped out Washington's lead with four runs.

Roy Sievers and Jim Lemon hit home runs for the Senators. Sievers' hit his in the second inning, then came through with a run-producing double as the Senators knocked out starter Don Mossi with a pair of runs in the third.

Ex-Tiger Reno Bertoia, Harmon Killebrew and Sievers slammed doubles as Washington increased its lead to 3-0.

Ray Narleski received credit for the victory, despite shaky relief pitching. The loser

Grantsville	4	7	.364
Flinstone	3	8	.273
Wellsburg	2	9	.182

Barrelville tied Hyndman for first place in the Pen-Mar Baseball League yesterday by defeating the Merchants at Barrelville by the score of 5-4.

The deadlocked leaders now own 9-2 records. Hyndman had beaten Barrelville in the opener of the series on May 10 by the score of 6-5.

Manager Raymond "Buck" Florita's club extended its winning streak to six games while Hyndman suffered its first defeat in its last five outings.

Bobby Raines went the route for Barrelville and notched his fifth win of the campaign against a single loss. He kept eight hits well spaced and fanned ten. Stan Corley, who started on the mound for Hyndman and was replaced by Jim Leydig in the fourth inning, was the losing pitcher.

Raines, Jesse Markley and Jack Skidmore shared six of Barrelville's 10 hits while Ronnie Cagle and Bobby Munden rapped two batters. Cliff Clites collected two hits in four official trips and batted in three Hyndman runs.

Carey Notches 4th Win

Salisbury's Cardinals stayed 1 1/2 games off the pace by whipping the Flintstone Farmers at Flintstone by the score of 5-3.

Don Carey scattered eight hits and chalked up his fourth consecutive win of the season without a loss. He fanned five and issued only one pass.

Harris and Love paced the Cards at the plate with two hits each. Dwight Morris and Jim Fletcher shared four of the Farmers' eight bingles. Jim Fletcher was tagged with a loss. He was supplanted by Russ Jones in the 7th inning.

Reds Win In Ninth

Centerville's Reds exploded for six runs in the ninth inning to break a 7-7 tie and defeated Grantsville's Sluggers at Grantsville by the score of 13-8.

During the big ninth, Manager Mel Nee's team coupled five hits with a walk and error for their six tallies. Robert Keister, who relieved Ford in the fourth inning, was the victim of the bombardment in the final stanza.

The Reds amassed 13 hits, including three each by Dwight Rose and David Rose, a homer and single by Nee and two singles by A. Growden.

Homers accounted for seven of the eight Grantsville tallies. Robert Keister belted a pair to account for three tallies. Perry contributed one with two mates aboard and Jimmy Keister made the other round-tripper for the sluggers.

Glenn Deremer, who came on in the 7th inning, got credit for the win, his fourth against a single setback.

Lowery Wins In Debut

Collecting a total of 15 hits, Mt. Savage crushed Wellsburg by the score of 15 to 1 at Mt. Savage.

Jack Lowery, who pitched Mt. Savage High School to the championship of the County High School League, made his Pen-Mar debut a winning one. He limited Wellsburg to five hits, fanned five and issued three bases on balls in going the route for the winners.

"Moose" Arnone sparked Mt. Savage's 15-hit attack with a triple and two singles while Jack Lowery, Rodney Johnson, George Bishields and Fay Often obtained two hits each. Lowery, Steve Faulkner and Bill Corbett smashed three-baggers. Wellsburg's five hits were singles.

Cards, Phils Split Even

St. Louis Bows, 11-9; Mizell Victor, 2-0

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies and the St. Louis Cardinals, slugging the ball in the first game and each other in the second, split a doubleheader, Sunday. The Phils took the opener 11-9 and the Cards snapped a five-game losing streak with a 2-0 win in the nightcap.

It was a tough day for pitchers, except for Vinegar Bend Mizell. The Phils used five in the first game, and the Cards four, as the batters pounded out 30 hits, including five homers.

In the second contest, starter Don Cardwell tangled with St. Louis outfielder Gino Cimoli in the fifth inning. They traded punches after Cardwell brushed Cimoli back on an 0-2 pitch, and both sides rushed to join the fray.

When order finally was restored, Cardwell left the game, complaining of a pain in his right shoulder which he said came from someone jumping on him during the fistfuffs.

The Cards got both their second game runs in the second inning. Joe Cunningham doubled to left, and Ray Jablonski singled him home with a hopper which went over Sparky Anderson's head. Rookie Gene Oliver doubled Jablonski around to third, and after an out, Mizell sacrificed Jablonski in.

The Phils collected 16 hits in the opener including a two-run homer by Gene Freese in the third inning when they went ahead 4-0. The Cards came back in the second and third with a trio of homers which scored a total of seven runs.

Reds Divide With Giants

Sanford Wins, 5-3; Pena Cops 2nd, 7-1

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Orlando Pena, going the route for the first time this season, pitched the Cincinnati Reds to a 7-1 victory Sunday after the San Francisco Giants took the opener 5-3 on Jack Sanford's six-hitter.

The Cuban right hander limited the Giants to four hits while notching his third win against three losses.

Orlando Cepeda garnered two of the Giants hits, one a seventh inning homer, which spoiled Pena's bid for a shutout.

The Reds hopped on Mike McCormick for two runs in the first inning, added a third run in the second inning and then drove the young lefty from the mound with a four run spurge in the sixth inning.

Pete Whisenant, with a double and single and three RBI's, and Roy McMillan, with three hits, paced the Reds' attack.

Sanford registered his first major league triumph over the Rhinelanders in the opener and raised his season record to 7-6. Daryl Spencer, with three for three, including a homer, paced the Giants' 10-hit attack. Daryl's homer in the sixth broke a 2-2 tie and he also singled home Cepeda with what proved to be the winning run in the eighth.

Barrelville tied Hyndman for first place in the Pen-Mar Baseball League yesterday by defeating the Merchants at Barrelville by the score of 5-4.

The deadlocked leaders now own 9-2 records. Hyndman had beaten Barrelville in the opener of the series on May 10 by the score of 6-5.

Manager Raymond "Buck" Florita's club extended its winning streak to six games while Hyndman suffered its first defeat in its last five outings.

Bobby Raines went the route for Barrelville and notched his fifth win of the campaign against a single loss. He kept eight hits well spaced and fanned ten. Stan Corley, who started on the mound for Hyndman and was replaced by Jim Leydig in the fourth inning, was the losing pitcher.

Raines, Jesse Markley and Jack Skidmore shared six of Barrelville's 10 hits while Ronnie Cagle and Bobby Munden rapped two-baggers. Cliff Clites collected two hits in four official trips and batted in three Hyndman runs.

Carey Notches 4th Win

Salisbury's Cardinals stayed 1½ games off the pace by whipping the Flintstone Farmers at Salisbury by the score of 5-3.

Don Carey scattered eight hits and chalked up his fourth consecutive win of the season without a loss. He fanned five and issued only one pass. Harris and Love paced the Cards at the plate with two hits each. Dwight Morris and Jim Fletcher shared four of the Farmers' eight bingles. Jim Fletcher was tagged with the loss. He was supplanted by Russ Jones in the 7th inning.

Reds Win In Ninth

Centerville's Reds exploded for six runs in the ninth inning to break a 7-7 tie and defeated Grantsville's Sluggers at Grantsville by the score of 13-8.

During the big ninth, Manager Mel Nee's team coupled five hits with a walk and error for their six tallies. Robert Keister, who relieved Ford in the fourth inning, was the victim of the bombardment in the final stanza. The Reds amassed 13 hits, including three each by Dwight Rose and David Rose, a homer and single by Nee and two singles by A. Growden.

Homers accounted for seven of the eight Grantsville tallies. Robert Keister belted a pair to account for three tallies. Perry contributed one with two mates aboard and Jimmy Keister made the other round-tripper for the sluggers.

Glenn Dermer, who came on in the 7th inning, got credit for the win, his fourth against a single setback.

Lowery Wins In Debut

Collecting a total of 15 hits, Mt. Savage crushed Wellsburg by the score of 15 to 1 at Mt. Savage.

Jack Lowery, who pitched Mt. Savage High School to the championship of the County High School League, made his Pen-Mar debut a winning one. He limited Wellsburg to five hits, fanned five and issued three bases on balls in going the route for the winners.

"Moose" Arnone sparked Mt. Savage's 15-hit attack with a triple and two singles while Jack Lowery, Rodney Johnson, George Bishields and Fay Ottenby scored two hits each. Lowery, Steve Faulkner and Bill Corbett smashed three-baggers. Wellsburg's five hits were singles.

Reds Divide With Giants

Sanford Wins, 5-3; Pena Cops 2nd, 7-1

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Orlando Pena, going the route for the first time this season, pitched the Cincinnati Reds to a 7-1 victory Sunday after the San Francisco Giants took the opener 5-3 on Jack Sanford's six-hitter.

The Cuban right hander limited the Giants to four hits while notching his third win against three losses.

Orlando Cepeda garnered two of the Giants hits, one a seventh inning homer, which spoiled Pena's bid for a shutout.

The Reds hopped on Mike McCormick for two runs in the first inning, added a third run in the second inning and then drove the young lefty from the mound with a four run spurge in the sixth inning.

Pete Whisenant, with a double and single and three RBIs, and Roy McMillan, with three hits, paced the Reds' attack.

Sanford registered his first major league triumph over the Rhinelanders in the opener and raised his season record to 7-6. Daryl Spencer, with three for three, including a homer, paced the Giants' 10-hit attack. Daryl's homer in the sixth broke a 2-2 tie and he also singled home Cepeda with what proved to be the winning run in the eighth.

Little Moes Rout 'Coney

Frostburg Cops 4th In Pony Loop, 19-1

Manager Bob Goldsworthy's Frostburg Little Moes, defending champions in the Bi-State Pony Baseball League, posted their fourth straight victory of the season yesterday by trouncing Lonaconing at Frostburg by the score of 19-1.

Frostburg scored seven runs in the third inning and duplicated the performance in the fifth frame.

Pacing the 15-hit assault were Rich McKenzie with a homer, double and single, Wayne Harper with a triple and two singles and Francis Joe Allan with a round-tripper, two-bagger and single.

Bill Diehl, winning pitcher, Wayne Harper and John Chaney struck out a total of 12 Lonaconing batsmen. The win was the second for Bill Diehl. Ken McCormick was the loser. Shockey accounted for two of Lonaconing's six safeties.

In games scheduled for today at 6 p. m., Frostburg plays at Cresapton, Lonaconing at Ellettsville and Mt. Savage at LaVale.

Chisox Split, Lead Is Shaved To One Game

Bosox Triumph, 4-2, After 9-4 Setback

By JOE MOOSHLIL
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP)—Towering Frank Sullivan, needing help in the ninth inning, pitched the Boston Red Sox to a 4-2 victory Sunday after the league-leading Chicago White Sox captured the first game of a doubleheader 9-4.

The split shaved Chicago's American League lead to one game over second-place Baltimore which subdued Kansas City 3-0.

The Red Sox staked Sullivan to a 3-0 lead in the first inning when they jumped on Billy Pierce for two walks, a double by Jackie Jensen and a two-run single by Frank Malzone. Boston added another run in the third on Gerry Geiger's triple and a single by Sammy White.

Sullivan, having pitched himself out of minor jams in the third, fifth and eighth innings, was kayoed in the ninth when Jim Rivera tripled and both Jim Landis and pinch batter Norm Cash singled.

Chicago wrapped up the first game in the second inning when the White Sox scored six runs on six singles, a walk and two sacrifice flies. Jim Rivera's first homer accounted for another run in the third and the Sox scored two more in the eighth on three singles and an error.

112 New Mines Opened In W. Va.

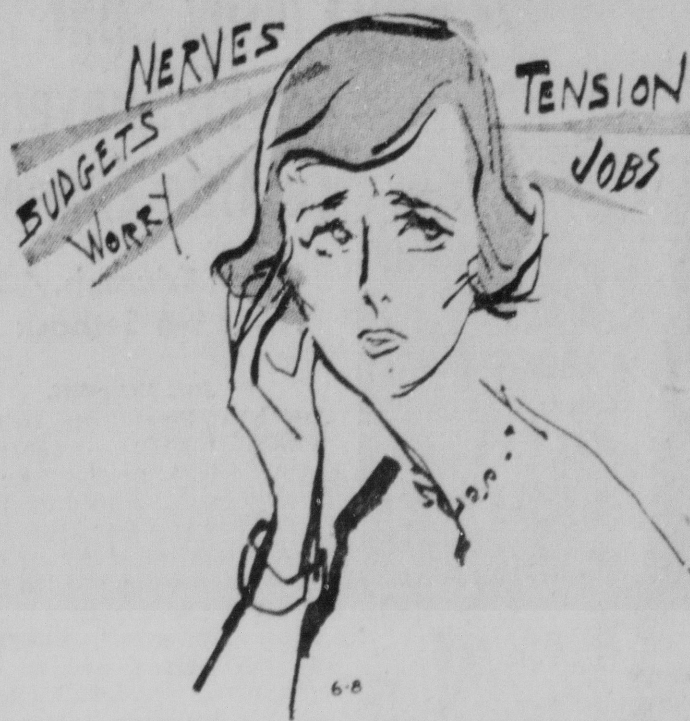

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — The State Mines Department said Thursday there were 112 new mine openings in West Virginia during the month of May, 17 above a similar period in 1958. Mines Chief Crawford L. Wilson said the heaviest concentration was in Fayette County where 20 openings were listed. Raleigh followed with 14 and McDowell with nine.

Wilson said the total included 101 regular openings and 11 auger-type. Raleigh County had four auger mines opening during May and three were in Kanawha County.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Worry and nervousness can go to your head.

Your Topknot

Your hair problem can be an emotional one! Yes, it's true. Highly nervous women have much more trouble with their hair than those who are calm and poised. For the hair reacts to the emotional situations in your life. As we have told you before—the skin is the largest organ of your body. And it is covered with hair follicles, which will definitely reflect both the mental and physical condition of a person.

Any hair beautifying routine should start with a healthy scalp and healthy hair. The nervous system and the blood stream directly affect the growth and general welfare of the hair. Let's say you are strolling down the street on a Sunday afternoon, perfectly relaxed. Suddenly you hear the screech of brakes and tires. Instantly you become tense and nervous as you look to see what happened. What else happens? Your tenseness automatically cuts off the blood supply to the extremities—including your scalp.

The same thing—on a smaller scale, of course—happens to you over and over again throughout the day, if you are the nervous type whose state of nerves changes constantly.

Thus, you can see how worry and nervousness tighten the scalp and hamper circulation. Sometimes falling hair will be the result.

If you realize these faults, try to keep the scalp loose and relaxed with daily brushing (the old custom of 100 strokes every night is a good one) and scalp manipulations. Of course, if you begin to lose so much hair that it worries you, you need the help of a specialist.

A successful home permanent also demands a healthy head of hair. Too many people neglect their hair—skipping the daily care it requires—and then expect the home permanent to make up somehow for their constant neglect.

Dull hair is usually the result of ill health, incorrect diet and inadequate rinsing when shampooing. Here is one simple thing in your diet that will help. Eat an egg a day—it will help keep the dullness away. Include one in your diet—both for health and for beauty.

If your hair is frail and has the inclination to break off—use a shampoo specially made for such hair. Also, use it with soft or distilled water. Never rub too hard and rinse very thoroughly. Towel dry the hair. Brush only with a soft brush.

Nervousness may sometimes be traced to a poor diet. My booklet, "Your Beauty Diet"—obtained by sending 25c in coin with a self-addressed, stamped, envelope to John Robert Powers, in care of this newspaper—may prove very helpful in this instance. Many people have used this diet in conjunction with a concentrated form of vitamin B, because we know that this vitamin, along with ample calcium foods, is essential for good nerves.

Don't allow yourself to be nervous; it only puts lines in your face and retards normal bodily functions.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (UPI) — At least five West Virginia physicians will be on hand here Monday for the opening of the five-day 106th annual meeting of the American Medical Assn.

Drs. Frank J. Holroyd of Princeton, W. Va., and Charles A. Hoffman of Huntington, W. Va., will attend as representatives of the West Virginia State Medical Assn.

Dr. Walter E. Vest of Huntington, a member of the AMA Council on Constitution and By-Laws, will attend meetings of that group during the convention.

Dr. I. E. Buff of Charleston, W. Va., will give electrocardiogram and chest X-ray examinations to interested physicians while Dr. Thomas H. McGavack of Martinsburg, W. Va., will participate in a panel discussion before a diabetes conference.

Great Britain abolished slavery throughout the British empire in 1833.

Pity The Poor Monkeys

BERLIN (UPI) — The West Berlin zoo Sunday told visitors to stop feeding the monkeys. The zoo said the monkeys get so many rich snacks they turn their noses up at their regular foods and even snub their keepers.

Statisticians estimate that the United States will have more than 63 million children under 18 by 1965.

Couriers of the United States State department amass nine and one-half million miles of air travel yearly carrying diplomatic correspondence.

Brookman Gets Seven Honors At LaSalle

56 Seniors Obtain Their Diplomas

Joseph Edward Brookman carried off seven of the 24 seniors presented last night at the 50th annual commencement exercises at LaSalle High School.

Commencement exercises for the Christian Brothers school, which had its first graduation in 1910, were held in Carroll Hall.

Young Brookman's honors included the McMullen Brothers gold medal for general excellence in the graduating class; the gold medal for religion, donated by Mrs. Michael F. Prendergast in memory of her brother, Richard McMullen; the trigonometry gold medal given by Henry R. Paupé in memory of his son, Anthony, and the gold medal for German given by Dr. Leo Ley in memory of his father, Leo H. Ley.

His other prizes were a gold medal in memory of W. Arnold Gunther for excellence in solid geometry; the physics award, donated by Mrs. Leo T. Downey, and a gold medal for excellence in problems of democracy, given by John H. Mosner.

Four Win More

Four other members of the LaSalle graduating class won more than one prize. Michael Joseph Mackert had four. They included the Americanism medal, given by the American Legion Auxiliary; gold medal for excellence in business law, given by the Men of LaSalle; an award as the best all-around basketball player and a second basketball award for calling "The Spirit of LaSalle" prizes as one of the basketball regulars.

John M. Bahen collected three awards, all for athletic prowess. The chief one was the Rappier Club trophy, given by the Class of 1933, for excellence in studies and athletics. He also won an award as the best all-around football player and another of the "Spirit of LaSalle" prizes as one of the basketball regulars.

Frank John Zorick and Joseph J. Vocke won two awards each. Zorick, who delivered the valedictory address last night, won the Henry H. Glick memorial oratory award and a gold medal for excellence in English donated by Mrs. Marie B. Katner. Vocke's prizes were the LaSalle Vocke's Club award for typing and another as one of the four editors of the school paper, donated in memory of Michael F. O'Neill.

Six other members of the graduating class received one award each. They were Paul Miltenberger, J. William Hunt essay contest gold medal; William Staarman, award from Catholic Daughters of America for bookkeeping; James Schlegel, general mathematics prize given by Men of LaSalle; James Tervent, "Spirit of LaSalle" prize as basketball regular; Joseph Firlie, award as one of four editors of school paper, and Philip Cloni, gold medal for excellence in journalism.

Three juniors and a sophomore also shared in awards generally regarded for seniors. Thomas Finan Jr. and Raymond Mewshaw, both juniors, shared with Firlie and Vocke the cash awards as editors of the school paper. Michael Scaletta, a junior, and Carroll Wilt, a sophomore, pulled down the other two prizes as regulars on the basketball team.

Wins Three Prizes

James Robinette, a sophomore, received three of the 11 awards given to underclassmen. One was a gold medal for religion in the underclassmen and another for sophomore oratory. He also received a gold medal in an oratory contest conducted for Cumberland and Western Maryland by Chief Justice Taney General Assembly, Fourth Degree, Knights of Columbus.

Other underclass awards went to Frederick Burkett and Paul Schweninger, for general excellence in the junior class; William Leasure and Francis Vocke, general excellence in the sophomore class; Thomas Clayton, general excellence in freshman class; Robert Garlitz, freshman general excellence and oratory, and Raymond Mewshaw, junior class oratory.

Sixteen boys in the student body received perfect attendance certificates for having no absences during the school year. They were Joseph Vocke and Frank Zorick, seniors; Ronald Kybos, Dennis McGinn, Raymond Mewshaw and Raymond Whitehair, juniors; William Leasure, Charles Naughton, Clarence Painter and Gary Peterson, sophomores; Michael Delaney, Robert Garlitz, William Rollins, John Winebrenner, Emanuel Gre.

Boy And His Pal

Roger Lee Long, 12, uses tweezers to feed a baby sparrow he has been raising for two weeks at his home at 202 Springdale Street. Roger found the bird just after it had hatched, took it home, and has been feeding it ever since. Yesterday he was giving it "lessons" in flying. To give it a drink, Roger soaks cotton in water, then squeezes the water drop by drop into the tiny beak. The sparrow is too young to know whether it's a boy bird or a girl bird, but that didn't stop Roger. He named it Susy. Roger, an animal lover from way back, already has tamed and raised a young robin he rescued from a cat, and raised two pigeons last year.

Allegany, Fort Hill Give Advanced Mathematics

A small group of boys and girls who received their diplomas last week at Allegany and Fort Hill high schools will be better able to cope with their college mathematics next September as a result of an advanced mathematics program which is now considered well established in both schools.

The class at Allegany High School has been offered in the senior year for the past two years during a regularly scheduled period of the school day. Arthur Taylor of Frostburg has established this advanced mathematics program as one of the final acts of his 35-year teaching career. He will retire at the end of the current school term.

Mrs. Madeline Laughlin Mewshaw, who teaches mathematics at Fort Hill, started the advanced mathematics program at her school last September but it had to be squeezed into the home-room period rather than as a regularly-scheduled class. There were 12 in this pioneer class.

Next year Mrs. Mewshaw expects 30 advanced mathematics students and the class will be conducted during a regular period.

At both schools, the teachers follow a similar pattern. The course consists of 12 weeks of advanced algebra, 12 weeks of introduction to analytical geometry and 12 weeks of an introduction to calculus.

Last year at Allegany, 15 pupils were enrolled. This year 18 have been taking the course and 20 have elected it for next year. These students are carefully selected on the basis of their ability and the prospects of taking these courses in college. Only those planning to major in engineering or mathematics in college are enrolled.

The selection starts with the seventh grade, with yearly revisions to be sure that every pupil qualified has a chance to participate and those manifestly unfit are excluded.

Mr. Taylor explained that it is hoped in the future to be able to reduce the time given to the advanced algebra and increase the time for analytics and calculus. At present students take the course during the same year they take trigonometry and solid geometry. Next year, 13 of the 20 in the class will have completed those subjects and can devote all their time to the advanced mathematics.

The course is not designed to replace regular college courses. Reports from college students who took it last year are encouraging. Allegany graduates from a year ago are better able to cope with their college mathematics at institutions of higher learning in Maryland, Texas and Ohio.

Mrs. Mewshaw said that at Fort Hill, an effort is being undertaken to accelerate the entire mathematics program. Qualified pupils will start taking algebra in the eighth grade instead of waiting until the ninth grade.

Tax Collector To Start Tour Tuesday Morning

The tour of Allegany County communities outside of Cumberland for the collection of county and state real estate taxes will start Tuesday in Frostburg with a visit to the Fire Hall from 9:30 a. m. until 4 p. m.

Isaac J. Smith, an assistant in the office of Tax Collector William B. Orndorff, will visit the seven communities around the county. A five per cent discount on county taxes is allowed for payment in June.

The schedule for the rest of this week: Barton Town Hall, 10 a. m. until noon Wednesday; Midland Fire Hall, 1 to 3:30 p. m. Wednesday; Westernport Town Hall, 10 a. m. until 3:30 p. m. Thursday; Mt. Savage trial magistrate's office, 9:30 a. m. until noon Friday; Flintstone Fire Hall, 1:30 until 3:30 p. m. Friday.

Mrs. Gunter Discharged From Hospital

Mrs. Marie Gunter, 47, Deep Creek Lake, was discharged Saturday from Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where she had been a patient since Monday for treatment of head and face injuries reportedly sustained when her husband attacked her with a 10-inch-long wooden stick.

Meanwhile, her husband, Dave Gunter, 65, well-known area restaurateur, was transferred Saturday by ambulance to the Perry Point Veterans Hospital from Garrett County Memorial Hospital in Oakland. He was able to gain admission to Perry Point as a veteran of World War I.

Gunter had been admitted to the Oakland hospital last Monday in "critical" condition from arm and leg wounds reportedly self-inflicted at his home along Deep Creek Lake.

In another development, W. Dwight Stover, Garrett County state's attorney, filed a petition in Circuit Court at Oakland to have a committee appointed to handle the person and property of Gunter.

The petition said the committee was necessary because of Gunter's inability to take care of his business affairs, and his advanced age, mental depression and fatigue. Stephen R. Pagenhardt and Walter W. Dawson, Oakland attorneys, were appointed by the committee.

The West Virginia Conference also reappointed 11 district superintendents, including Rev. John E. Hanifan, Buckhannon, and Rev. Vernon C. Cutright, Romney.

Other appointments in the Baltimore Conference, assignments of new district superintendents included: Washington West District, Edgar W. Beckett, from Hyattsville. Special appointments included: Douglas B. Chandler, professor, Wesley Theological Seminary; Everett G. Miller, conference director of camping; Joseph T. Riley, chaplain, Springfield State Hospital; Daniel D. Harlan, missionary to Alaska; W. Arne Roberts, fund raising director, division of national missions department of finance and field service; James C. Moore, executive assistant, department of international affairs, National Council of Churches.

The sheriff said no inquest in the man's death is planned. Mr. Reeves was born in Leesburg, Va., a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Richard Reeves. He was employed for nearly 38 years by the C&A Gas Company.

He held membership in the Piedmont, W. Va., Rotary Club, Trinity Methodist Church of Piedmont and the Men's Bible Club of the church, and he also was a member of the Gasco Club of the gas company.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Ruth Z. (Spriggs) Reeves, and his son, Donald, Mr. Reeves is survived by another son, Gerald Reeves, Frostburg; three daughters, Mrs. Paul Mullen, Luke, Mrs. David Hagenbuch, Caldwell, N. J.; Miss Peggy Ann Reeves, at home; a brother, George Reeves, Augusta, W. Va.; two sisters, Mrs. Sally Beavers, McCoole; and Mrs. Maggie Linkswiler, Westernport, and nine grandchildren.

The body is at the Boal Funeral Home in Westernport, where services will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. Burial will be in Philos Cemetery there.

28 Methodist Churches Get New Ministers

Maryland, W. Va. Conferences End

Twenty-eight Maryland and West Virginia churches in the Cumberland area will have new ministers as a result of transfers and appointments announced yesterday as the Baltimore and West Virginia conferences of the church closed five-day sessions at Westminster and at Buckhannon, W. Va.

Rev. W. W. Patterson, who has been pastor at LaVale Church, has been reassigned to Berkeley Springs, W. Va.

Rev. Gordon F. Hunkle Jr., Wesley Seminary student, will be sent to Davis Memorial Church.

Rev. James E. Perry will come from Shady Side, Md., to take the pulpit at LaVale.

One In Cumberland

Rev. Louis L. Emerick has been named minister at Trinity Church in South Cumberland, and will be succeeded at Union Grove Church by Rev. Stanton B. Leland, who comes here from Cambridge on the Eastern Shore.

Rev. R. W. Current of Andrews Chapel, Baltimore, will be pastor at the Frostburg church. Rev. B. F. Hartley of the Clarksburg (Md.) charge will be pastor at Lonaconing.

Rev. Clarence McCloud of Wesley Seminary will preach at Midland, replacing Rev. C. S. Reckley, who will be pastor at the Paw Paw, W. Va., church.

Rev. L. Carl Whitten of Wesley Seminary will be pastor at Rawlings Chapel charge.

Moorefield district appointments announced yesterday by the West Virginia Conference (including Garrett County, Md.) are:

Aurora, Robert Armentrout; Bloomington, Clarence Winkler; Burlington, Tennis E. Painter; Capon Bridge, Ralph Cook; Clevelville, V. C. Decker; Cranesville, William O. Cook; Davis, Gerald Daniel; Fort Ashby, Carl Burrows; Gorman, G. M. Ford; Petersburg, Gary A. Zeigler; Levels, Forest Armentrout; Kendrick, William S. Markley; Kitzmiller, Virgil Shrader; Parsons, Joseph Stump; Springfield, W. M. DeShong; Wardensville, James Grubb; Rowlesburg, Allen H. Parrish.

The West Virginia Conference also reappointed 11 district superintendents, including Rev. John E. Hanifan, Buckhannon, and Rev. Vernon C. Cutright, Romney.

Man Drowns In Deep Creek

Marion F. Reeves Falls From Boat While Fishing

A 61-year-old fisherman drowned Saturday night in Deep Creek Lake and his body was recovered yesterday morning when it became snagged on the anchor of another fisherman's boat.

Garrett County authorities identified the dead man as Marion F. (Ted) Reeves, 418 Hammond Street, Westernport, an area manager for the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company.

Dr. James H. Feaster of Oakland, deputy county medical examiner, said death was due to accidental drowning when Mr. Reeves apparently fell from his boat while fishing in the middle of the lake.

Sheriff James Frantz, Oakland, said his office received a report about 10:30 p. m. Saturday that Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Horner of Westernport, also fishing in the Hazelhurst and Green Glade areas of the lake, had found Mr. Reeves' small outboard motorboat anchored in about 12 feet of water.

Empty Boat Found

It was empty, the sheriff said, although Mr. Reeves' fishing jacket and personal belongings were still in the boat.

An immediate search of the lake waters in the area was begun, and a partially-filled gasoline container was found floating nearby. The cap on the gasoline tank of the outboard motor was lying on a seat of the boat and the tank was nearly empty, he added.

Although darkness prevented a full-scale search Saturday night, Sheriff Frantz made arrangements to begin dragging the lake yesterday morning. Members of the dead man's family and some friends, however, continued an all-night search without success.

Anchor Snags Body

Yesterday morning, as preparations were being made to begin dragging the lake, another fisherman, Eugene Hinebaugh of Lonaconing, lifted the anchor of his boat and found Mr. Reeves' body was snagged on it. He pulled the body into his boat and brought it to shore shortly after 8 a. m.

Meanwhile, early morning searchers had found the victim's hat and tobacco pouch floating in the waters a considerable distance from the scene, Sheriff Frantz stated.

The sheriff said members of Mr. Reeves' family told him the man had been fishing on the lake all day Saturday. He was accompanied by his son, Donald Reeves of LaVale, until evening when he returned to the lake alone.

The authorities think Mr. Reeves was attempting to pour gasoline into the tank of his outboard motor when he slipped or tipped the boat and fell into the water. His body was found only a few feet from his boat.

No Inquest Planned

The sheriff said no inquest in the man's death is planned. Mr. Reeves was born in Leesburg, Va., a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Richard Reeves. He was employed for nearly 38 years by the C&A Gas Company.

He held membership in the Piedmont, W. Va., Rotary Club, Trinity Methodist Church of Piedmont and the Men's Bible Club of the church, and he also was a member of the Gasco Club of the gas company.

Vandals Hit 2 More Schools Over Weekend

Flintstone And Barton Ransacked

State Police yesterday added two more schools to the growing list of targets for a gang of vandals and thieves operating in the Cumberland area and nearby Pennsylvania.

They reported that Barton Elementary School was broken into and ransacked sometime Saturday night. A janitor discovered the building was badly damaged early yesterday morning. School officials said 10 pounds of meat was missing.

Mrs. Elsie Hill Roland, principal of Flintstone School, reported someone broke into the building, forced seven or eight doors inside the structure and completely ransacked the place. The entry was discovered early yesterday morning and police believe the thieves broke in after midnight.

Old Pistol Stolen

Missing from the Flintstone school are an old .32 calibre pistol, coffee, cans of orange juice and a screwdriver.

Trooper Milton Hart is investigating the Barton entry, while Trooper Kenneth Messmer is probing the Flintstone theft.

The two new entries are added to a number of other schools broken into during the past two weeks.

Trooper Hart said considerable damage has been done to the buildings although only small amounts of money and other items are taken.

Valley High School near Lonaconing and Cresaptown Junior High were entered sometime Saturday morning.

Approximately $500 damage was caused at Valley, but nothing was reported missing. At Cresaptown, approximately $100 damage was reported but the thieves got only $1 in cash and some postage stamps.

Buildings Damaged

Trooper Hart said the culprits used a crowbar to force doors and steel filing cabinets, ransacking all the offices and rooms of the schools. Two large freezer refrigerators were damaged at Cresaptown.

Long Stretch Elementary School, eight miles west of Frostburg on U. S. Route 40, was broken into last week. A small amount of food and money was stolen.

Pennsylvania police also are on the lookout for the culprits who four times have broken into the Colerain Elementary School, taking food and about $22 in cash, the last time on Memorial Day.

Hyndman Intermediate Grade School also was broken into recently.

Altogether Pennsylvania police have reported 12 breaking and enterings at schools in Bedford County and eight cases in Somerset County.

Deaths

Grove, George F., 82, Stoney Run.

Hanifin, Miss Etta Mae, 60, RFD 3.

Miller, Roy C., 49, Bloomington.

Moore, Miss Celia, Porterwood, W. Va.

Oaster, Isaac, 70, Parsons, W. Va.

Phillips, Louis, 72, Barton.

Randolph, Charles D., 67, 403 Washington Street.

Robertson, Mrs. Carl, 55, 812 Calvin Street.

Robertson, Joseph S. III, 74, East Pittsburgh, Pa.

Rowe, Arthur S., 73, 26 Carpenter Avenue, Ridgeley.

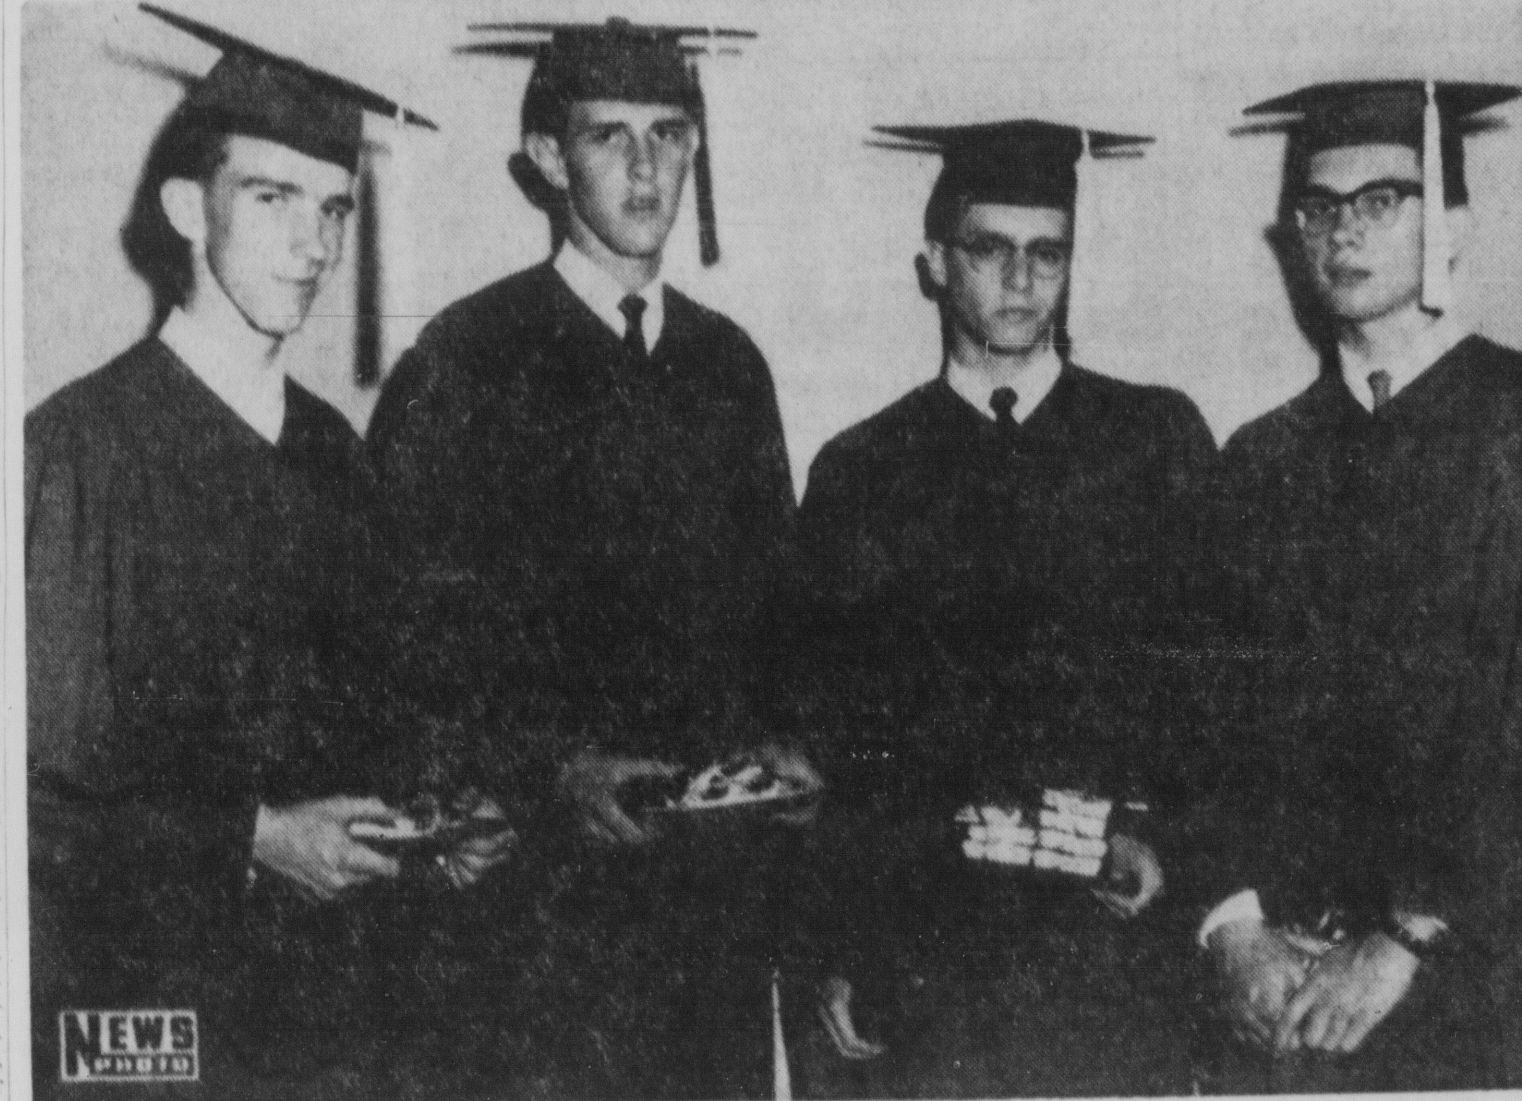

Schenley, Mrs. Michael, Moorefield, W. Va.

Shreve, William Russell, 82, Davis, W. Va.

Sliker, Mrs. Florence, 86, Charles Town, W. Va.

Lloyd J. Stark of Mt. Lake Park and formerly of Westernport, died of shock and loss of blood due to amputation of his leg at the upper thigh.

The accident occurred about 4 p. m. as Mr. Stark was working alone in one section of the machine coating department of the mill. He was employed as a coating mixer, and had worked at the Luke mill for 26 years.

Mr. Stark had reported for work on the evening shift at 3 p. m. His absence was noticed shortly after 4 o'clock and Austin Fisher, shift supervisor, began a search for him.

Found By Supervisor

Mr. Fisher found the man lying beside the mixing machine, his leg cut from his body. The plant physician, Dr. Robert Bess, pronounced him dead.

Officials said the agitator is used for mixing paper coating in the company's process for producing paper.

Mr. Stark was born in Connellsville, Pa., a son of Mrs. Nancy (Long) Stark who resided with him, and the late Lloyd Stark. He had moved to Mt. Lake Park in March after residing in Westernport for many years.

He was a graduate of Bruce High School, class of 1933, and belonged to the Mt. Lake Park Evangelical United Brethren Church.

Mr. Stark is survived by his widow, Mrs. Helen (Bittinger) Stark; a son, John Lloyd Stark; Red Bank, N. J.; a sister, Mrs. Nellie Jaralewitz, Westernport, and two grandchildren.

Funeral Wednesday

The body is at the Boal Funeral Home in Westernport, but will be taken to the Leighton Funeral Home in Oakland after 5 p. m. today.

Boy And His Pal

Roger Lee Long, 12, uses tweezers to feed a baby sparrow he has been raising for two weeks at his home at 202 Springdale Street. Roger found the bird just after it had hatched, took it home, and has been feeding it ever since. Yesterday he was giving it "lessons" in flying. To give it a drink, Roger soaks cotton in water, then squeezes the water drop by drop into the tiny beak. The sparrow is too young to know whether it's a boy bird or a girl bird, but that didn't stop Roger. He named it Susy. Roger, an animal lover from way back, already has tamed and raised a young robin he rescued from a cat, and raised two pigeons last year.

Allegany, Fort Hill Give Advanced Mathematics

A small group of boys and girls to reduce the time given to the who received their diplomas last week at Allegany and Fort Hill the time for analytics and calculus. At present students take the course during the same year they take trigonometry and solid geometry. Next year, 13 of the 20 in the class will have completed those subjects and can devote all their time to the advanced mathematics.

The course is not designed to replace regular college courses. Reports from college students who took it last year are encouraging. Allegany graduates from a year ago are better able to cope with their college mathematics at institutions of higher learning in Maryland, Texas and Ohio.

Mrs. Madeline Laughlin Mewshaw, who teaches mathematics at Fort Hill, started the advanced mathematics program at her school last September but it had to be squeezed into the home-room period rather than as a regularly-scheduled class. There were 12 in this pioneer class.

Next year Mrs. Mewshaw expects 30 advanced mathematics students and the class will be conducted during a regular period.

At both schools, the teachers follow a similar pattern. The course consists of 12 weeks of advanced algebra, 12 weeks of introduction to analytical geometry and 12 weeks of an introduction to calculus.

Last year at Allegany, 15 pupils were enrolled. This year 18 have been taking the course and 20 have elected it for next year. These students are carefully selected on the basis of their ability and the prospects of taking these courses in college. Only those planning to major in engineering or mathematics in college are enrolled.

The selection starts with the seventh grade, with yearly revisions to be sure that every pupil qualified has a chance to participate and those manifestly unfit are excluded.

Mr. Taylor explained that it is hoped in the future to be able

Tax Collector To Start Tour Tuesday Morning

The tour of Allegany County communities outside of Cumberland for the collection of county and state real estate taxes will start Tuesday in Frostburg with a visit to the Fire Hall from 9:30 a. m. until 4 p. m.

Isaac J. Smith, an assistant in the office of Tax Collector William B. Orndorff, will visit the seven communities around the county. A five per cent discount on county taxes is allowed for payment in June.

Mrs. Gunter Discharged From Hospital

Mrs. Marie Gunter, 47, Deep Creek Lake, was discharged Saturday from Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where she had been a patient since Monday for treatment of head and face injuries reportedly sustained when her husband attacked her with a 10-inch-long wooden stick.

Meanwhile, her husband, Dave Gunter, 65, well-known area restaurateur, was transferred Saturday by ambulance to the Perry Point Veterans Hospital from Garrett County Memorial Hospital in Oakland. He was able to gain admission to Perry Point as a veteran of World War I.

Gunter had been admitted to the Oakland hospital last Monday in "critical" condition from arm and leg wounds reportedly self-inflicted at his home along Deep Creek Lake.

In another development, W. Dwight Stover, Garrett County state's attorney, filed a petition in Circuit Court at Oakland to have a committee appointed to handle the person and property of Gunter.

The petition said the committee was necessary because of Gunter's inability to take care of his business affairs, and his advanced age, mental depression and fatigue. Stephen R. Pagenhardt and Walter W. Dawson, Oakland attorneys, were appointed by Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley as the committee.

Sliding Board Fall Injures Frostburg Boy

A nine-year-old Frostburg boy was admitted to Memorial Hospital last night when he fell off a sliding board at Constitution Park.

The boy, Frederick Morton, was brought to the hospital about 6:45 p. m. He complained of pain in his back.

Arnett Roberts, fund raising director, division of national missions department of finance and field service; James C. Moore, executive assistant, department of international affairs, National Council of Churches.

Man Is Found Dead

A 73-year-old man was found dead last night in a small building off Lake Avenue in Bowman's Addition which he used as a home.

State Police identified him as Harold Edward Pryor. They said a neighbor discovered the man was dead and notified the sheriff's office.

The deputy county medical examiner's office said the man apparently died in his sleep about midnight from natural causes.

The body is at the Stein Funeral Chapel.

Man Drowns In Deep Creek

Marion F. Reeves Falls From Boat While Fishing

A 61-year-old fisherman drowned Saturday night in Deep Creek Lake and his body was recovered yesterday morning when it became snagged on the anchor of another fisherman's boat.

Garrett County authorities identified the dead man as Marion F. (Ted) Reeves, 418 Hammond Street, Westernport, an area manager for the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company.

Dr. James H. Feaster of Oakland, deputy county medical examiner, said death was due to accidental drowning when Mr. Reeves apparently fell from his boat while fishing in the middle of the lake.

Sheriff James Frantz, Oakland, said his office received a report about 10:30 p. m. Saturday that Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Horner of Westernport, also fishing in the Hazelhurst and Green Glade areas of the lake, had found Mr. Reeves' small outboard motorboat anchored in about 12 feet of water.

Empty Boat Found

It was empty, the sheriff said, although Mr. Reeves' fishing jacket and personal belongings were still in the boat.

An immediate search of the lake waters in the area was begun, and a partially-filled gasoline container was found floating nearby. The cap on the gasoline tank of the outboard motor was lying on a seat of the boat and the tank was nearly empty, he added.

Although darkness prevented a full-scale search Saturday night, Sheriff Frantz made arrangements to begin dragging the lake yesterday morning. Members of the dead man's family and some friends, however, continued an all-night search without success.

Anchor Snags Body

Yesterday morning, as preparations were being made to begin dragging the lake, another fisherman, Eugene Hinebaugh of Lonaconing, lifted the anchor of his boat and found Mr. Reeves' body was snagged on it. He pulled the body into his boat and brought it to shore shortly after 8 a. m.

Meanwhile, early morning searchers had found the victim's hat and tobacco pouch floating in the waters a considerable distance from the scene, Sheriff Frantz stated.

The sheriff said members of Mr. Reeves' family told him the man had been fishing on the lake all day Saturday. He was accompanied by his son, Donald Reeves of LaVale, until evening when he returned to the lake alone.

The authorities think Mr. Reeves was attempting to pour gasoline into the tank of his outboard motor when he slipped or tipped the boat and fell into the water. His body was found only a few feet from his boat.

No Inquest Planned

The sheriff said no inquest in the man's death is planned.

Mr. Reeves was born in Leesburg, Va., a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Richard Reeves. He was employed for nearly 38 years by the C&A Gas Company.

He held membership in the Piedmont, W. Va., Rotary Club, Trinity Methodist Church of Piedmont and the Men's Bible Class of the church, and he also was a member of the Gasco Club of the gas company.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Ruth Z. (Spriggs) Reeves, and his son, Donald, Mr. Reeves is survived by another son, Gerald Reeves, Frostburg; three daughters, Mrs. Paul Mullen, Luke; Mrs. David Hagenbuch, Caldwell, N. J.; Miss Peggy Ann Reeves, at home; a brother, George Reeves, Augusta, W. Va.; two sisters, Mrs. Sally Beavers, McCoole; and Mrs. Maggie Linkswiler, Westernport, and nine grandchildren.

The body is at the Boal Funeral Home in Westernport, where services will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. Burial will be in Philos Cemetery there.

Vandals Hit 2 More Schools Over Weekend

Flintstone And Barton Ransacked

State Police yesterday added two more schools to the growing list of targets for a gang of vandals and thieves operating in the Cumberland area and nearby Pennsylvania.

They reported that Barton Elementary School was broken into and ransacked sometime Saturday night. A janitor discovered the building was badly damaged early yesterday morning. School officials said 10 pounds of meat was missing.

Mrs. Elsie Hill Roland, principal of Flintstone School, reported someone broke into the building, forced seven or eight doors inside the structure and completely ransacked the place. The entry was discovered early yesterday morning and police believe the thieves broke in after midnight.

Old Pistol Stolen

Missing from the Flintstone school are an old .32 calibre pistol, coffee, cans of orange juice and a screwdriver.

Trooper Milton Hart is investigating the Barton entry, while Trooper Kenneth Messmer is probing the Flintstone theft.

The two new entries are added to a number of other schools broken into during the past two weeks.

Trooper Hart said considerable damage has been done to the buildings although only small amounts of money and other items are taken.

Valley High School near Lonaconing and Cresapton Junior High were entered sometime Saturday morning.

Approximately $500 damage was caused at Valley, but nothing was reported missing. At Cresapton, approximately $100 damage was reported but the thieves got only $1 in cash and some postage stamps.

Buildings Damaged

Trooper Hart said the culprits used a crowbar to force doors and steel filing cabinets, ransacking all the offices and rooms of the schools. Two large freezer refrigerators were damaged at Cresapton.

Long Stretch Elementary School, eight miles west of Frostburg on U. S. Route 40, was broken into last week. A small amount of food and money was stolen.

Pennsylvania police also are on the lookout for the culprits who four times have broken into the Colerain Elementary School, taking food and about $22 in cash, the last time on Memorial Day. Hyndman Intermediate Grade School also was broken into recently.

Altogether Pennsylvania police have reported 12 breaking and enterings at schools in Bedford County and eight cases in Somerset County.
